THE LINCOLN STAR

FIFTY-EIGHTH YEAR No. 304 LINCOLN, NEB., TUESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 20, 1960 SEVEN CENTS

U.N. Backs Dag—Reds Lose

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly early Tuesday overwhelmingly backed Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold on his Congo policies and opposed any military aid to the Congo except through U.N. channels.

The vote—a blow to Soviet criticism of Hammarskjold and Soviet aid to sometime Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba—came as a climax to an emergency session on the Comgo called on U.S. initiative.

It took place on the scheduled opening day of the 1960 regular session, for which Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has already arrived in New York.

Resolution Adopted

The Assembly's endorsement of Hammarskjold — and its warning against outside aid—came with adoption of a 17-national Asian-African resolution containing those points pon containing those points.

The resolution passed by a vote of 70-0 with 11 abstentions. The abstainers were the 9-nation Soviet bloc, France and South Africa.

On separate preliminary votes, parts of the resolution were adopted 71-0 with 9 abstentions and 80-0 with 1 abstention.

Passage of the resolution wound up the emergency session of the world parliament summoned into session Saturday night by the United States after the Soviet Union had vetoed a similar resolution in the Security Council.

Hours Before Start

The emergency session concluded only hours before the Assembly was to start—at 3 p.m. EDT — its brass-studded regular 15th session with a parade of diplomatic stars of the communist and neutralist countries headed by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The delegates sped the closing phase of their debate with one eye on the clock and an ear cocked to the dramatic difficulties of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, who stormed out of his hotel, refused rent-free accommodations at another arranged by Hammarskjold, and settled down in a hostelry in the heart of Harlem.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin backtracked rapidly in the face of the massive Afro-Asian support thrown behind Hammarskjold.

The surprise end to the showdown between Russia and the United States was interpreted by most diplomats as a victory for both Hammarskjold and the United States, helped along by the Kremlin's reluctance to offend the uncommitted countries either of Africa or Asia.

Zorin, at the last moment, withdrew his own resolution which was sharply critical of Hammarskjold. Then, after offering a series of amendments beefing up the Afro-Asian resolution in Russia's behalf, he withdrew them at the request of Ghana.

Hammarskjold told the Assembly he hailed approval of the resolution as "a fundamental and encouraging agreement with and within the African world regarding the very philosophy of this U.N. operation" in the Congo.

–RED BOSS WANTS TO TALK TO IKE–

Khrushchev's Hope: Summit

New York (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev indicated Monday he wants to talk about disarmament with President Eisenhower at the United Nations and thus, in effect, turn the coming U.N. General Assembly session into a world Summit meeting.

The Soviet premier and his Red bloc retinue arrived Monday, to a soggy and coldly hostile New York welcome. Khrushchev at once suggested President Eisenhower should attend the assembly session for "serious negotiations" on disarmament.

Remarks Aimed At Ike

Khrushchev, beginning his second stay in the United States with a lecture to President Eisenhower, urged the President to take "really constructive" part in the Assembly session and avoid making just a "fancy speech."

The boos and catcalls marking Khrushchev's arrival at a decrepit East River pier had hardly died away before the Soviet leader launched an attack on Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. He said he found "very strange" Herter's recent statement that Khrushchev's mission in the United States would be one of making propaganda.

Khrushchev said he objected to Herter saying "that the Soviet proposal regarding participation of leading statesman in the discussion of the disarmament problem at the General Assembly is 'completely ridiculous.'" He called this "a strange sort of logic."

(United Press International said Khrushchev held a series of Red satellite summit conferences Monday night while jeering pickets milled outside the Soviet Embassy on Park Ave.

(He remained in the embassy throughout the day, making one brief venture outside only to be roundly booed and heckled by several hundred spectators.)

Echo of Jeers

Boos and shouts of "murderer" greeted the Soviet Communist chief as he stepped from the white-hulled Soviet ship Baltika to a rain-soaked. East River pier, to the echo of jeers from hostile longshoremen.

Apparently unperturbed, Khrushchev at once produced a 1,500-word prepared statement. In it he purported to interpret President Eisenhower's decision to address the Assembly Thursday as raising the possibility of top-level negotiations.

The Soviet leader repeated his contention that better relations between the United States and the Soviet Union are possible.

The arrival was a bleak and sodden scene, and additional chill was added by the absence of any top U.S. or other Western dignitaries to greet the Soviet ship. A golden hammer and sickle on the white hull of the Baltika glistened in the pelting rain as Khrushchev stepped onto the 25th St. pier, where about 150 officials of various Communist nations were on hand to welcome him.

The Communist gathering set up a cheer, but it failed to smother boos, catcalls and cries of "murder" from anti-Communist demonstrators held back some distance from the pier by police. Khrushchev appeared not to notice.

FIDEL CRIES 'FOUL'

Says Hotel Robbed Him, Storms Out

. . . WAS 'PREPARING CHICKEN IN HIS SUITE'

DIDN'T LIKE HIS ROOM

Cuban Premier Fidel Castro gestures with both hands as he tells newsmen his troubles . . . mainly that his New York hotel was "robbing" him and that he is being subjected to suffocating security wraps.

From Press Reports

New York—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro stormed out of his hotel near the United Nations Monday night, refused accommodations at another midtown hotel and checked into a hotel in distant Harlem after saying he would sleep in Central Park if necessary.

It was a frantic night even for the volatile Cuban premier, and it stole much of the attention of New Yorkers from the arrival of another anti-American leader today—Nikita S. Khrushchev of Russia.

Castro stalked suddenly out of the Hotel Shelburne, 8 blocks from the United Nations, at mid-evening after accusing the management of making "unacceptable cash demands" on him. The management retorted that the Castro move was a propaganda stunt designed to embarrass the United States and the United Nations.

Head For U.N.

Announcing that he was prepared to sleep in Central Park if he had to, Castro and a small group of key aides, including his secretary Celia Sanchez, drove directly to the skyscraper U.N. headquarters building and demanded that Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold find his party suitable quarters. He paid no attention to anti-Castro pickets outside the building.

A hurried conference was called including Castro, Hammarskjold, U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche and State Department representatives.

Hours passed and other members of Castro's 80-man party packed their baggage and quit the Shelburne. Some went to the U.N. Others descended on Cuba's 4-room legation headquarters in midtown where crowds of pro-Castroites shouted encouragement and chated, "Fidel, Fidel, Fidel."

Then came the surprise announcement at the U.N. that Castro had insisted on moving his party to the Hotel Theresa, the largest Negro hotel in the United States and known as the "Waldorf Astoria of Harlem."

Castro was driven up to Harlem in a 10-car motorcade with a siren-screaming police escort at about midnight. He checked into the hotel as crowds gathered and police hastily erected barricades in the streets outside.

(Amid reports of growing discontent in Havana, Castro's brother Raul hastily scheduled a protest speech there. Radio stations broadcast from Cuban labor leaders to a rally at the presidential palace later Monday.)

U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding, describing what he called "the Fidel Castro drama in 3 acts—more of a comedy than a tragedy," disclosed at the U.N. that Castro had turned down an offer of 20 rent-free suites and other rooms at the midtown Hotel Commodore and insisted on going to the Theresa.

'Not To Aid'

"You can imagine for yourself what the reason was for Castro's decision," Berding said. "It certainly was not to help the U.S. government.'

The ostensible cause for Castro's argument with the Hotel Shelburne, which had become the focal point for Cuban demonstrations both pro-Castro and against him since his arrival, was a $10,000 bond the hotel required against possible property damage.

"I am not ready to let myself be robbed because the money I have belongs to the Cuban people," Castro told an impromptu conference as he left the Shelburne.

Hotel owner Edward Spatz immediately called a news conference of his own and challenged Castro. He admitted he had asked the Cubans to produce the second half of the $10,000 bond—the first half of which already had been put up. But, he said, the Cubans attempted to give him a Cuban bond which he said "looked like a phony bond."

Later Relented

"I asked for a real bond or money," Spatz said, adding that he later relented, went to Castro's suite, offered to return the $5,000 bond already posted and let the Cubans stay free of charge so as not to embarrass President Eisenhower.

But, he added, the Cubans left to make "propaganda."

Spatz said the Cubans already had packed 500 suitcases when he went up to their suites, proving they had planned all along to walk out for "propaganda."

Just 'Little Man'

"I'm just a little hotel man caught in the middle of an international scheme to embarrass the U.S. and the U.N." Spatz said.

Other hotel officials said they had no quarrel with the Cubans, although Spatz had complained earlier that they had brought their own stoves with them and were preparing to cook chicken Cuban-style in their rooms.

As Castro left the hotel, he complained of his treatment at the hotel to newsmen and told them he thought U.N. headquarters should be moved to neutral ground—even Cuba—"where the delegates would be most happy and most comfortable."

'Pushed Around'

The hasty exit of the fiery Cuban capped a day in which he accused New York police of pushing him while crowds milled around him during his arrival Sunday. He also charged the U.S. State Department with being unfriendly" because his movements had been restricted to Manhattan Island. Castro agreed to head his country's delegation to the U.N. General Assembly session at the suggestion of Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Castro's government lodged a formal protest with the U.N. against "uncivil and violent conduct" by the New York police assigned to protect Castro during his arrival.

Integrated Housing Unit To Incorporate

. . . ACT Plans To File This Week

By Nancy Ray

Members of Action Coordinating Team reviewed progress in their plans to develop an integrated housing area in Lincoln Monday.

Mrs. Ed Weaver Jr., president of ACT, told the group that incorporation of the project under the name of Modern Community Developers Inc. is expected to be completed by the end of the week.

Following the incorporation of MCD, the group will be able to begin sale of $100 shares to interested citizens.

The locally-run group hopes to raise enough funds locally through this method to launch the housing project which would be offered for sale to white and minority races.

It is expected, she said, that about 40 homes could be built in the first project, with 10 available to families of minority races.

Plans Campaign

ACT plans to launch its campaign to sell the investment shares immediately after incorporation, and already has obtained pledges to buy shares from "a substantial number" of citizens, she said.

Dr. C. Vin White has accepted the post of general chairman of the campaign sale, Mrs. Weaver said. Plans call for an October meeting of ACT members, those interested in selling shares, and those who plan to become stockholders in the building corporation.

Herbert Heumann, Lincoln builder who proposes to construct the integrated housing project, and others instrumental in the development will review the plans in more detail at the mass meeting tentatively planned for mid-October.

The ACT group has been working with Morris Milgram, head of the Modern Community Devlopers Inc. of Princeton, N.J., in planning their local project. Mrs. Weaver explained that for the present time Lincoln ACT will launch the development itself without affiliating with the national MCD organization.

Stockholders in the Lincoln MCD project will share in the profits from the sale of the land and homes in the project.

Present plans for the development call for construction of homes in the $9,000 to $10,000 price range, she explained. At the outset, she said, a model home will be built and orders will be taken from prospective buyers before additional units are built.

Pleasant Day Forecast Over Most Of State

Fair skies and temperatures in the upper 80s are on tap for most of Nebraska Tuesday, forecasters said.

Extended forecasts called for more of the same through Saturday, with temperature highs in the 80s and little if any precipitation.

Nebraska's panhandle is expected to become partly cloudy Tuesday and turn cooler by Tuesday evening.

McCook recorded the state high reading Monday with 93, and temperatures dipped to an overnight low of 38 at North Platte, the weather bureau reported Monday. Lincoln recorded a Monday high of 81 and an overnight low of 47.

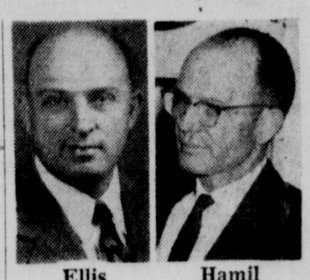
Ellis, Hamil Continue Fight On REA Funds

Omaha (AP) — The running battle of words between Clyde T. Ellis and David A. Hamil over the rule of the government in rural power development flared up again Monday at a regional meeting of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association.



Ellis Hamil

Ellis, general manager of the NRECA charged that progress by the rurals has been made in spite of the present national administration and not because of its policies. Hamil, REA administrator said he was proud of the record the Eisenhower administration had made in the field.

The main points of the controversy are: the administration view that the time has come for REA co-operatives to pay interest on the money they borrow for the government at a rate in keeping with that which the government pays when it borrows money—in effect an increase from two per cent too more than four per cent.

Develop Own Support

The administration suggests that REA co-operatives are now going concerns and should look into the possibility of establishing their own systems of financial support instead of relying indefinitely on government funds.

This was the fourth time in recent weeks that Hamil and Ellis had clashed over this issue.

Hamil said he was confident that the general public, including present REA borrowers "will come around to one point of view before long."

To Wall Street

Ellis told the rural electric representatives the administration "tried to send you to Wall Street for loan funds."

He accused the administration of a "willingness to be used by the giant power monopoly to weaken or destroy the rural electrification program," helping create "a climate of opinion in which the power companies could easily increase their wholesale rates to us, add restrictions on their use of the power they sell us, and more easily pirate away from us our larger users."

He said that while 98 per cent of the homes in rural America now have electricity, the next step is for more and cheaper power for farm operation.

Council Will Get Carriers' Views Before Acting On Truck Weights

By Virg Falloon

The City Council Monday deferred for two weeks a vote on Lincoln's proposed truck weight control ordinance to permit the Nebraska Motor Carriers Association to submit its suggested amendments.

As proposed by the council, the Lincolyn ordinance would adopt the same gross and axle weight limitations and tolerances as provided by state law.

"The Association is not objecting to a truck weight ordinance," Atty. Jack Devoe told the council, "but it feels Lincoln should use the same 6% overweight tolerance permitted by Omaha rather than the state's tolerances."

Nebraska allows tolerance of only 5% on axle weight and 3% on gross weight.

Devoe suggested the greater tolerance should be permitted "because the speed of a heavy-weight truck on the highway is not applicable to city streets."

Though not discussed by Devoe, City Atty. Ralph Nelson said the motor carriers' proposed changes would:

—eliminate city provisions that trucks carrying a net load of 10 tons or more be classed as a commercial vehicle and carry commercial truck rather than local truck plates.

—eliminate the city penalty provisions for trucks being overweight on registration and plates.

Under state law, trucks operating exclusively within a city or town or within 5 miles of its corporate limits may be licensed as local trucks, but otherwise would be required to carry the appropriate commercial plates.

The city ordinance proposes that trucks carrying 10 tons or more must carry commercial plates to use the city streets.

Presently, most concrete-hauling trucks operating within the city carry local plates. A city official estimated the heavy concrete trucks would pay $400 for commercial plates compared with $25 for local plates if the proposed ordinance were adopted.

At Monday's hearing on the truck weight ordinance, two Lincoln citizens appeared to urge its passage.

'It's time," said one, "that the city do something about the heavy and overweight trucks that are pounding our streets to pieces."

In the delay of the council vote, several members said they didn't favor the motor carriers' proposal, but opportunity should be granted for their submission.

Presently Lincoln does not have a truck weight ordinance and the state does not enforce its provisions within the municipal jurisdiction.

Ike Unlikely To Talk To K., Herter Says

Prospects Of Get-Together No Brighter

Washington (AP) — President Eisenhower said Monday "there seem to be some trouble makers trying to come to our country."

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter saw no brightening of the slim prospects that Eisenhower will get together with Soviet Premier Khrushchev. And he discounted the possibility of serious negotiations at a big United Nations General Assembly meeting.

These comments just about summed up first Washington reaction to the second U.S. visit of Khrushchev, Washington's No. 1 cold war foe.

U.S. strategists professed little surprise in Khrushchev's opening declaration that the Soviets want peace and desire serious disarmament negotiations among government heads at the United Nations.

U.S. Policy Unchanged

They said U.S. policy still favors arms cut talks in a less unwieldy form — such as a renewal of the 10-nation East-West Geneva talks which the Soviets walked out of last June.

And they pictured Eisenhower, the butt of constant Kremlin attacks since the Summit blowup last May, as steadfastly resolved not to meet Khrushchev this time without noteworthy concessions from the Soviet boss.

Eisenhower, who goes to New York Thursday to address the General Assembly, made his remark about trouble makers while talking to a Republican campaign group at the White House. Some reporters understood him to say "there seem to be some troublemakers coming," but an official text released later made it "trying to come."

No One Named

The President did not specify anybody by name and the White House declined to amplify. Over the weekend Eisenhower had appealed to Americans to be calm, reasonable and dignified toward the U.N. visitors even though they may have vilified the United States.

Herter was interviewed as he took off for New York for the Assembly meeting which starts Tuesday. He is to remain there as head of the U.S. delegation.

Asked whether there was any improvement in the already-poor prospects of an Eisenhower-Khrushchev get-together, Herter replied: "No, I don't see any."

Woman From Falls City Is Electrocuted

Falls City (AP)—Mrs. Perry Maze, 32, Falls City, was electrocuted Monday when the cable of a boom truck came in contact with a high tension wire and sent a charge of electricity through a truck beside which she was standing.

Her son, Mike 4, and an employe, Walter Vogt, were seated inside the cab of the truck and were insulated from the electrical charge.

The three had gone to a location on a farm, which is near Hamlin, Kan., just over the Richardson County line, while workmen were loading a cultivator on a flat bed wagon behind the truck. Mrs. Maze was the mother of 4 children.

Soviet Does Retread Job On American Flag

New York (UPI) — A new concept in a 50-star United States flag was displayed by the Russian ship Baltika when it arrived with Premier Khrushchev Monday.

An American flag fluttering from the starboard yardarm of the foremast was apparently an old model with two extra stars sewed on.

It had two rows of 9 stars and 4 rows of 8 stars. The official U.S. flag now has 5 rows of 6 stars and 4 rows of 5 stars.

Khrushchev Sidelights

New York (AP) — It was just one year and two days ago that Soviet Premier Khrushchev last arrived in New York, under sunny blue skies, amid an atmosphere of cautious optimism. Monday, the atmosphere was dour—and so was the weather. Leaden skies poured a soaking rain on the city.

Because of the rain, the usual police motorcycle escort was omitted from the motorcade of the Soviet visitor.

Where 125,000 persons lined the streets or hung from skyscrapers to watch Khrushchev's arrival a year ago, there was no mass turnout of New Yorkers at all this time. Only police guards were visible as the motorcade passed through some streets.

Khrushchev, limited this trip to the confines of Manhattan Island, did his initial sightseeing from third-floor windows of the Soviet United Nations delegation headquarters at 68th St. and Park Ave. He moved from one to another of 3 windows, staring out of each for several seconds at the rain-swept scene below.

A Russian cameraman moved into an area barred to other photographers in an attempt to get a close-up arrival shot of Khrushchev at the East River pier where his ship docked. When he refused to move, police simply stood in front of his camera, blocking the lens.

The Police Department, working lengthened security shifts during Khrushchev's visit, borrowed 650 cots from the Welfare Department, to be set up in police stations throughout Manhattan for cat-napping when feasible.

Security measures were so strict that 7 women employes at Soviet Headquarters were refused entrance until a Russian security officer identified them to police.

As Khrushchev's ship moved up the East River, he noted a power plant spewing black smoke into the sodden air. This led the Soviet premier to lecture American Quarantine officers on Russia's success in curbing air pollution.

Medical inspectors found the Russian liner Baltika "in excellent condition—no illnesses aboard."

Khrushchev appeared impatient as he waited for his ship to dock at Pier 73. But his jolly look returned as he walked down the gangplank.

Liquor Commission Sets License Hearing

The State Liquor Commission Monday set a hearing Sept. 28 on suspension or revocation of the beer license of William D. Bolln of Blair.

Two charges against Bolln are that he accepted merchandising credit for a period exceeding 30 days in violation of Nebraska statutes and rules of the liquor commission.

A third charge is that Bolln failed to file a retailer's monthly report of credit for December, 1959, and for February, March, May and June, 1960.

LOYAL TROOPS ALERT

VIENTIANE HIT BY REBEL BARRAGE

Vientiane, Laos (AP)—Troops loyal to neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma manned mortars and set up roadblocks on the outskirts of Vientiane Monday night following a rebel threat to attack this administration capital.

Military officials dismissed as propaganda a declaration by the opposition regime of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan that its forces planned to seize the city, but said they looked for another shelling.

A 30-minute machinegun and mortar barrage early Sunday damaged a waterworks station and 3 homes. The fire came from across the Mekong river in Thailand.

'They Won't Succeed'

"They (the rebels) are trying to harass us and scare us out, but they won't succeed," said Gen. Ouane Rathikone, Phouma's Army commander.

The attack threat came from Radio Savannakhet, the voice of the rebel regime set up more than a week ago with headquarters at Savannakhet, 180 miles southeast of Vientiane. Phoumi became leader of the group after accusing Prince Phouma's government of being pro-communist.

The broadcast said 'liberating forces" were en route to Vientiane and called on defenders to lay down their arms. In setting up defenses around the city, Gen. Ouane said, 'We have no fear but we must be prepared for any eventuality."

Papers Filed In Try To Get County Judge Out Of Jail

Bridgeport attorney Paul Rhodes has submitted to the State Supreme Court a request for permission to file an original action and mandamus against District Judge Richard M. Van Steenberg of Mitchell and others, Supreme Court Clerk George Turner said Monday.

Turner said the action is an effort to have Morrill County Judge Robert D McFarland released from jail where he has been placed for alleged contempt of court in refusing to answer questions in the trial of a lawsuit.

The Supreme Court has not yet ruled on the application for leave to docket the original action and mandamus, Turner said.

In a related action, the Supreme Court has rejected a request that another district judge be assigned to hold court in Bridgeport replacing Van Steenberg.

Turner said the latter request was signed by District Judge John H. Kuns of Kimball at Rhodes' request.

Garber Of Imperial Heads State School Lands Board

The State Board of Educational Lands and Funds Monday named Harry Garber of Imperial to serve as chairman during the coming year. William Minier of Omaha was selected vice chairman.

Garber succeeds Carl Dietemeyer of Lincoln as chairman.

Also at its annual fall reorganization session, the board prepared plans for its sixth annual tour of state school land areas.

The plan call for meetings with leaseholders, soil conservation interests and other interested persons at Broken Bow Oct. 11 and at Valentine Oct. 12.

In a move to step up soil and water conservation develop on the state-owned lands, the board prepared to present some basic agreements to the Nebraska Association of Soil Conservation Districts dealing with relationships between conservation districts, the state board and the leaseholders.

"State lands ought to lead the way in the conservation movement in Nebraska," said Deitemeyer.

The board voted to invest $190,000 in U.S. government securities maturing in August of 1966 and yielding a return of 3.43 per cent. Most of the invested money comes from the state's permanent school fund.

STOCK MARKET TAKES A HEADER

New York (AP) — The Stock Market, apprehensive over the business outlook and what might develop at the United Nations, plunged to a new 1960 low, as measured by the Dow Jones Industrial Average, Monday.

An estimated $5.7 billion was slashed from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the decline in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks.

Heavy trading accompanied the steep slide.

Key stocks fell from a few cents to more than $3.

The decline, gathering momentum as the day wore on, spread through the steels, motors, rails, oils, chemicals, utilities, coppers, electronics, aircraft-missiles, tobaccos and building materials.

Among the high-priced issues which make wide moves, International Business Machines lost $21.50 and closed at $501. Polaroid lost $11.87 closing at $223.75.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, which until Monday had staved off three challenges to the previous low of 599.10 set March 8, dropped 15.42 to 586.76. This was its greatest loss since Sept. 26, 1955, when it fell 31.89 to 455.56 on news that President Eisenhower had suffered a heart attack.

The AP average sank 4.20 to 210.4 for its sharpest decline since Nov. 24, 1958, when it lost 5.20. Monday the industrials went down 7.30 to a new 1960 low, the rails 2.20 to a new low and the utilities 1.30.

The ticker tape ran late on 3 occasions, once for 22 minutes.

Trading volume totaled 3.79 million shares, compared with 2.34 million Friday.

Of 1,253 issues traded, 975 declined and 138 advanced. New highs for the year numbered 13 and new lows 174.

Losers included U. S. Steel down $2.25 at $75.50, Jones & Laughlin $2.25 at $56.25, Chrysler $1.50 at $41.75, U.S. Rubber $1.62 at $44.25, Sears Roebuck $3 at $50.52, Douglas Aircraft $1.75 at $28.50, RCA $3 at $53.37, American Smelting $2.37 at $50.62, Eastman Kodak $3.50 at $112.25, General Electric $2.62 at $75.62, New York Central 75 cents at $17.75 and Texaco $1.75 at $73.50.

2-Year Bike Licenses Proposed To Council

Police Ask Change To Help On Lost, Stolen Cycles

By Virgil Falloon

A change in Lincoln's bicycle ordinance to require licensing of the two-wheelers every two years was introduced Monday before the City Council.

The proposed amendment, which comes up for public hearing on Oct. 3, would replace the current one-time licensing provisions.

The city once had required annual licensing of bicycles, but later modified requirements to the present license plate which lasts the life of the bicycle."

However, the police department says license records under the present system become useless as bicycle ownership changes.

They point out a non-transferrable license and renewal every two years would give better control over lost or stolen bicycles and ownership records.

50c Fee Suggested

City Finance Director James Mallon suggested the licensing fee be raised to 50 cents. He said the present 25 cent fee does not meet actual licensing costs.

Other proposed changes would:

—establish Jan. 1, 1961, as the licensing date and every two years thereafter.

—require bicycles to be ridden in a single file on the city streets rather than double-file now permitted.

—extend the prohibition against bicycle riding on sidewalks in the downtown business district to include the business districts in College View, Havelock, University Place and Bethany.

Bids Called Oct. 5

In other action, the council called for Oct. 5 bids on a proposed 8-million gallon water reservoir to be constructed near 32nd and B.

The project, estimated at $420,000 in the capital improvements budget, would be north of an existing 8-million gallon underground reservoir connected with the A Street pumping station.

Construction cost would come from water revenue funds. Completion would be by June 1, 1961.

By a 4-3 vote, the council rejected a motion amending a 1958 ordinance requiring sidewalks on M (near 50th) and on Alles Circle. The motion would have eliminated Alles Circle from the required sidewalk construction.

Council action on ordinances:

Introduced, 1st Reading

—Amendment to ordinance on "E" Multiple Dwelling District regulations to correct typographical error.

—Sewer district for Leighton from 59th to 60th.

Passed, 3rd Reading

—Acceptance of plat of H & L Subdivision, 21 lots near 62nd and Newton.

—Alley Paving District 282 for alley in Floral Park between G and 18th.

—Sidewalk District 3 for northside of Randolph from 44th to 56th and south side of Randolph from 40th to 56th.

—Sidewalk District 2 for west side of 40th from Vine to Dudley.

North Cotner Zoning To Planning Commission

The City Council Monday requested the City-County Planning Commission to consider local business zoning for property fronting on North Cotner from Y to Dudley.

In the move, the council deferred action on requested local business zoning for the D. L. Tyrrell floral shop and greenhouse property at 1133 No. Cotner and the Milan Evans property at 1140 No. Cotner.

Councilman Dell Tyrrell, a florist and one of the zoning applicants, did not participate in council proceedings on the zoning request.

The planning commission had recommended against the zoning change as constituting strip zoning and having an adverse effect on traffic.

It noted both the commission and the council had denied a similiar zoning request for the block immediately northwest of the applicants' property.

Whole Area

On motion of Council Hugh Thorne, the council called for a planning commission report on local business zoning for the entire block between Dudley and Orchard, 64th and 65th, which is bisected by Cotner, and on the block between Orchard and Y and west of Cotner and the half-block between Orchard and Y and east of Cotner.

This large area would include the Evans and Tyrrell properties and also the block which was denied a zoning change in previous city action.

Other Council action:

—approved the request of Silas R. Friesen to construct a garage at 2810 Washington with waver of rear-yard requirements.

—approved the Nebraska Public Power System's application for relocation of a 115,000-volt transmission line around the site of an Interstate Highway interchange to be located at West O and the Air Base road.

—approved the request of Kermit Ackman to construct a garage at 3132 F with waver of rear-yard requirements provided a hip-roof is used. The garage would replace an existing structure.

—deferred the request of Marvin Kiser for waiver of lot area requirements at 2020 So. 14th to permit an addition to an existing duplex. The Board of Zoning Appeals has recommended denial.

—approved the aplication of the City Light Deartment for permission to construct an electric substation at 2700 So. 17th, just north of Fire Station No. 8 at 17th and Van Dorn. It would be constructed atop an abandoned water reservoir and would be screened by existing pines.

Idle Fund Investments Give City $308,000 Income

City Finance Director James Mallon reported Monday that "idle funds" investments earned $308,156.28 for the 1959-60 fiscal year ended Aug. 31.

Under council policy, "idle funds" of the various city accounts are invested in short-term federal government securities during the year and the earnings are distributed on a proportionate basis to the various city funds.

On "bank balance" investments, the city earned $222,852.75 compared with approximately $109,000 for the previous fiscal year. Investments for specific funds earned $85,303.51.

The general fund earned $34,274.75 on "idle funds" investments. It was the 3rd largest earner.

The water revenue fund earned $49,687.16, and the paving and water districts special assessment funds brought in $95,243.81 in interest earnings.

Mallon said the "idle balances" of the various funds are invested in short-term federal notes and earnings are distributed pro rata on the basis of the average monthly balance for each fund during the year.

The council approved the distribution of "idle funds" earnings as determined by Mallon.

Delay Action On Change In Police Dept.

The City Council deferred discussion of proposed changes in the police department's organization plan until next Monday.

Police Chief Joe Carroll has recommended that criminal investigation activities be given greater emphasis with "shift commanders" appointed from its personnel.

A "traffic lieutenant" under each shift commander would be responsible for traffic and patrol activities.

At present traffic has a captain and 3 lieutenants while the criminal investigation bureau has a captain and two lieutenants for 3 shifts.

Discussion Monday was deferred because of the length of the council meeting on other matters. Last week, Carroll was out of town.

Action on the city's milk inspection fees ordinance had previously been deferred until next Monday.

MOWS DOWN 77 TREES; LEAVES CAR

Police Monday were searching for the driver of a car which left the street and mowed down 77 young trees at the Williams Nurseries Saturday night, doing $431 damage.

The car involved was found abandoned against a large tree on nursery property between 44th and 45th, Walker and Lexington. The car's owner earlier had reported it stolen.

Police said the trees ranged from 5 to 10 feet in height and said nursery officials reported they would have to remove 6 or 7 larger trees to get the car out. The damaged trees included 70 pin oaks, 7 elms and one silver leaf maple.

House Suspends Defection Probe

Washington (AP) — A House subcommittee suspended its investigation of the defection to Russia of two U. S. code specialists. The subcommittee chairman criticized hiring of the men and said the National Security Agency's security procedures need study.

Rep. Paul J. Kilday, D-Tex., said it is his view NSA should not have hired Bernon F. Mitchell and William H. Martin. He said information the agency had at the time "showed them to be unstable, even though specific acts of culpability were lacking."

"In my view the procedures prescribed by NSA for clearance require further study," Kilday told newsmen after his subcommittee ended its 3rd day of closed-door hearings.

Court Asked To Declare City Fence Law Unconstitutional

The question of whether Elmer Shamberg of 1234 So. 56th has violated a city ordinance governing fences was carried to Lancaster District Court Monday.

Shamberg filed suit against the City of Lincoln asking the city's fence ordinance be declared unconstitutional and that the city be permanently enjoined from enforcing its provisions against him.

Shamberg also asked the court to back up his contention that the "fence" in question is not really a fence at all, but is a "side and back stop" for his tennis court.

The city has filed a complaint against him in Municipal Court alleging he has a fence on his property over 6 feet in height which is contrary to city ordinances governing fences. The case has not yet come to trial.

Shamberg alleged in his petition that he was told in January there were no restrictions concerning the construction of tennis courts and that city officials declined to inspect the court when he offered them the chance to do so. He said he spent $3,000 on the tennis court which is located adjacent to his home.

He also claimed the 'fence" is only 4 feet, 6 inches in height from ground level and adds that in the court itself was constructed 6 to 7 feet below ground level.

Conference On Youth

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Thanks to over-zealous and irresponsible reporting, the person of J. Gordon Roberts of Omaha and the cause of the White House Conference on Children and Youth have been done a serious injustice. When Mr. Roberts resigned from his post as chairman of the Nebraska follow-up committee of the latest White House Conference, the report on that action contained nothing but danger signs which Mr. Roberts cited.

The implication was that the Omahan resigned out of disagreement with the conference and believed that the program was doing harm to the nation and its young people. If we are to take Mr. Roberts at his word, this is not the case. In a letter of resignation to Mrs. Howard N. Kelley, chairman of the Governor's White House Youth Committee, Mr. Roberts explained in two paragraphs why he was resigning. Not a word from these two paragraphs was contained in news accounts of the event coming out of Omaha.

An Important Omission

Mr. Roberts wrote: "Circumstances demand that I limit the number of my activities. Moreover, so far as my assignment is concerned in following up the national conference, I feel that I have done as best I can what I was expected to do. Recommendations have been prepared for submission to all delegates to the conference. Therefore, although I have enjoyed working with those concerned with this program, I feel that I have no further purpose to serve, and should now resign."

There is Mr. Roberts' reason for resigning, in his own words. In the course of his letter, he did note that the entire White House Conference program could do more harm than good "if a program is used to induce young people to accept dependency beyond actual need . . . If it develops arrogance and a demand for service without corresponding responsibility or consideration as a right, it will indirectly encourage juvenile delinquency."

Mr. Roberts went on to say that "in my judgment, there are grave dangers in this White House program, both nationally and locally, and the program should not be regarded with such rose-colored glasses as to distort a true picture." Those criticisms were the parts of Mr. Roberts' letter used in news dispatches. But his paragraph on "grave dangers" was followed in his letter by another paragraph, not in the news dispatches.

That paragraph said: "Any worthwhile program involves dangers, however. And this fact should not obscure the tremendous good which may come from more public attention to the problems of youth. And this fact should not obscure the tremendous number of man and woman hours of attention without compensation which have been given to the problems of youth by conscientious Nebraskans." For those who care to examine the facts, the above constitutes an accurate presentation of Mr. Roberts' position.

Mr. Roberts was not condemning the White House Conference program. He was pointing out some dangers he saw in it and disagreeing with it in some respects. But he did not resign because of any potential dangers or disagreement. He went on to accept his points of difference as does any sensible person who is a part of an organization or group. Mr. Roberts is not alone in this thing, either, as the conference report itself contains minority reports in conflict with the majority on certain major recommendations.

From the tone and context of his remarks, one would probably not have much difficulty finding those things in the conference with which Mr. Roberts disagrees. From the vast conference report can be sifted 127 specific proposals. Of these, 59 referred directly to action which should be taken by the federal government, 29 to action by state and local governments and 39 to action by all levels of government. The majority of these recommendations, 69, involved administrative or planning action, 28 called for enactment of legislation and 30 for some degree of government spending. The conference went on record as favoring expanded federal aid to education, expanded welfare programs, expanded urban renewal programs, a $1.25 minimum wage and many other such controversial items.

Breakdown On Items

Congress is in violent disagreement over these subjects as is the nation as a whole. It would be fantastic if the White House Conference and its thousands of delegates agreed in all these areas. Rather than dangers, we see these things as examples of leadership and areas of need but we believe in their free and open discussion, not their dismissal with the black-eye technique.

No Room For World Weight

Premier Nikita Khrushchev and Cuba's Fidel Castro may be landing in New York for important world discussions but the historic occasion takes a back seat in Nebraska. For something else has landed in Nebraska that is like a pitcher of ice water to a man dying of thirst in the middle of the desert. To such a man, nothing is quite as important as that pitcher and nothing is quite as important right now to hundreds of thousands of Nebraskans as the University of Nebraska football team.

The team was nothing but magnificent when it downed the highly favored Longhorns of Texas in a bitterly fought 14-to-13 duel in the heat of Austin. If you want to talk about individual standouts, you could go on forever because every member of the team made an outstanding contribution. The vital kicks, passes, runs and tackles provided enough key plays to carry on a conversation for the rest of the season.

And football is certainly the center of every conversation at the moment. While NU's faithful followers bask in the glory of last Saturday night's victory, they are holding their breath for the encounter with mighty Minnesota on Nebraska sod this coming Saturday. The Gophers will be here with blood in their eyes, still smarting from a humiliating lacing last year at the hands of the Huskers.

But the hope is that Nebraska has found something this year it has lacked for a long time—offense. It takes no expert to know that you have to score to win football games. Without scoring, the best you can get is a dull tie and it generally takes more than one score to put a game on ice.

Bowles Proposal

Chester Bowles appeared on television's Face The Nation program Sunday and it is to be hoped that a great number of Americans heard him.

Mr. Bowles was asked for a forthright explanation of what a Democratic administration would do about peace and new goals for foreign relations. Using the word "do" is misleading because it would imply that no one but the United States has any authoritative say about world peace. So long as there are powerful rivals in the world neither the Republicans or Democrats could do more than assume a position.

In terms of position Mr. Bowles made it quite clear that he would remove areas of crisis by asking all nations to refrain from aid programs in critical areas, diverting their efforts into the United Nations through which needy areas could receive help without strings attached.

There is a great distinction between the Bowles proposal and the actual operation of foreign aid currently practiced by all the rival nations, the United States included. Aid has been used as a national instrument and crises occur when both the East and the West confront each other in the disputed area. Obviously if both withdrew and mutually channeled their aid through the United Nations these confrontations of the past which periodically bring the world to the brink of war would diminish and many would not occur. Peace is more substantially served when rivals agree to reduce points of friction.

The question mark in the Bowles plan surrounds the good faith of the major powers in their definition of foreign aid. If they are more interested in personal advantage than in helping the world no one will accept the Bowles plan.

But if the United States believes in foreign aid and would be willing to offer such a just proposal to the world Russia for instance would have to go along or reveal its lack of altruism. Such a proposal in itself would restore the intiative to the United States and could even make peaceable coexistence something greatly more real.

Mexico's Independence

It would be an act of practical neighborliness and a good piece of self-education if the citizens of the United States spent their spare time during the remainder of September learning more about their neighbor to the south, namely the Republic of Mexico.

The suggestion is prompted by the fact that Mexico observed its Independence Day last week, marking the 150th year of home rule.

Like the United States which declared its independence first and won it later the hard way, Mexico actually did not become independent in 1810. But that is the year when Fr. Miguel Hidalgo y Costilla, a beloved priest and a great freedom fighter called out the word "grito" which was what was needed to weld together the people and start the unbreakable drive toward self rule. Actually it was quite a few lives and hardships later. September 28, 1821, when Gen. Augustin de Iturbide crossed up Spain and made a deal with the conservative faction in Mexico whereby both Spain and the liberal Mexicans were thwarted by the creation of an independent Mexican monarchy. This failed to hold and by 1823 Mexico became a republic.

Hernan Cortez brought the Aztec empire into the Atlantic Community by conquest in 1519 and added the land which he called New Spain to the influence and riches of old Spain. The sweat and suffering of Mexico enriched Spain for 300 years thereafter. But the exploitation achieved its own ruin because the gentle touch of the church and the transmitted social and moral aspirations of the western society spread faster than the Spanish sword and inevitably expressed themselves victoriously.

The United States has a great bond of sympathy with Mexico because of a similar experience. The fact that the U.S. found its way to the light with less difficulty and greater dispatch only serves to instruct this country on how best to help an equally aspiring neighbor. The U.S. has not done an outstanding job of that and Mexico now at long last has almost got it made. But it still isn't too late.

Friendly Climate But Short Lived

New York — In considering what the United States faces at the U.N. General Assembly you have to look back at what was happening exactly one year ago this month.

At that time Nikita Khrushchev was taking a grand tour of the USA, seeing everything and anything, from Spyros Skouras' "can-can" movie in Hollywood to Roswell Garst's Iowa corn fields. He was given the red-carpet treatment in Washington, with high dignitaries turning out in white tie and tails. Finally he spent three days at Gettysburg and Camp David where he and President Eisenhower ended by genuinely liking each other. They gave their personal pledge to quit calling each other names, to try to build up an atmosphere for peace.

For approximately six months thereafter, both men and both governments tried to carry out that pledge.

Khrushchev flew almost immediately to Peiping where, according to our best diplomatic reports, he tried hard to persuade the Red Chinese to cooperate with the USA regarding Formosa. He was turned down. But he tried.

Two months later when Eisenhower made his pilgrimage to 18 countries of Europe and the Middle East, Italian communists were lined up on the streets of Rome cheering Ike. They had received the word from the Kremlin. Even Latin-American communists on the president's subsequent tour had got the word and yelled "We like Ike!"

Today, note the contrast. What a change! Today, exactly one year after Mr. K arrived in Washington, he can no longer tour the USA. He is confined to Manhattan. Today American RB-47 fliers are imprisoned in a Moscow jail, and the U.S. Air Force privately proposes that we retaliate by shooting down a Russian plane. Or, as an alternative, it wants the Navy to seize a Russian trawler on the high seas.

Today both Russia and the United States have been seizing and deporting alleged spies at the drop of the hat, some of them merely outspoken students. And both countries have staged full-dress televised spectacles of defectors in order to whip up public opinion against the other.

The atmosphere is so tense that many diplomats fear an "accidental" war through a plane crash or a bomb explosion.

That is the contrast between September 1959 and September 1960.

Campaign Awaits Outcome Of U.N.

WASHINGTON — The candidates for the American presidency have a common problem in the next few weeks, which will be world personalities at the United Nations in New York, and then the World Series dominating the American scene.

The outlook, indeed, is in this unusual year that Americans are headed for a British-style general election in which issues hot off the griddle are debated in a few weeks of intensive campaigning with the voter decision rendered forthwith.

Fortunately Vice President Nixon and Senator Kennedy have the youth, vigor and grasp of affairs to cope with this new look in presidential campaigns. It is one which could very well separate the men from the boys in dramatic and unexpected fashion.

The World Series is of course an accustomed and attractive interlude. It is welcomed by candidates who can use it to relax, regroup their forces and even think about what they are saying, provided they enjoy that useful capacity.

But the United Nations drama about to unfold in the modernistic building on the East River is another cup of tea. President Eisenhower and this country are not in control of that state where Khrushchev, Castro, Nasser, Gomulka, Sukarno and maybe even the Congo's Lumumba will be throwing their weight around.

The State Department's unworthy attempt to censor the amount of attention given them, especially Khrushchev, is not only an insult to the good sense of the American people, it is unrealistic. What happens at the U.N. will suggest the dimensions of the American problem in foreign affairs far better than the generalizations of interested parties at home. For better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, this is the world in which this nation must chart its course.

At this point most members of Congress would gladly vote funds to move the United Nations to Switzerland, a more limited and quieter center of world communications and one which has already proved its absorptive powers in world affairs. One Democratic senator suggests that the Rockefellers be blamed for having brought the U.N. headquarters to New York with lavish property gifts.

For it is readily apparent to the political trade that what happens at the U.N. is unpredictable and, in its domestic political impact, bound to be largely accidental.

☆ ☆ ☆

At first glance the vice president seems to be helped in that Americans will rally to President Eisenhower and identify the administration cause with patriotism. Senator Kennedy's criticisms must to a degree be muted and he must tread carefully wherever he goes.

But it is an advantage that could be lost swiftly by an administration misstep or an impression that the administration has lost ground with friends and foes.

Politicians perceive, too, that the presidential election has not jelled. The cross country indicators reveal no pattern. The candidates get good crowds, but neither has anything approaching hero status. The number of undecided voters is everywhere thought to be large.

The further challenge to the vice president and Senator Kennedy is to strengthen the party organizations. On both sides, feuds abound and rival personalities are fighting for seats on the gravy train.

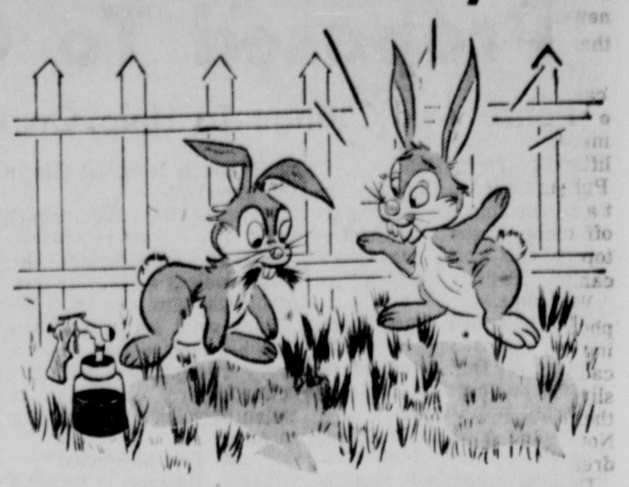
LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country



Alas and alack! I have heard just about everything. I recently saw an advertisement for a green spray which is to be mixed with water and doused over the front yard to keep the grass looking fresh and green up until frost time. It seems that the gradual dying off of the grass is a real eyesore to some people and so our American know-how has come up with a solution to the problem.

What a surprise the rabbits are going to get when they hop inside the fence to nibble on what looks like tender green grass.

"I do declare, Minerva. Grass never tasted like this before," the chief of the rabbit clan will remark to his spouse, half-alarmed.

"Tsk! Tsk! You are only growing old. Perhaps it is later than you think. When has green grass ceased to be green grass?" Whereupon she, too, will gulp a mouthful of dry grass, fairly panic as she struggles to keep from choking on it, and will decide it is also later than she thinks.

Wheat-sowing has begun in some rural areas near the farm, although The Farmer is waiting for rain before he puts the seed into the ground. Of course there is always the gamble of just when to sow wheat. It may begin to rain as it did last year and the problem of getting it into the ground will be a problem again.

The seasons move steadily from one sowing and reaping into another. So silently and quickly do they pass until finally the last ear of corn has been picked and we suddenly find the work completed.

Almost every farmer is seeking new storage space, bracing other buildings, adding new grain bins or enlarging the old bins.

BOB CONSIDINE

Campaign Has Aura Of Vaudeville

WITH KENNEDY — The candidate's "favorite tune" is blasted again and again as he nears his fresh audience, just as "Tea for Two" heralded the impending arrival on stage of the old soft shoe dancer with the pearly smile and hard straw hat. Sen. Kennedy's theme music, whether he likes it or not, is "Anchors Aweigh." Full many a budding tree will be flattened and plastered ceiling unsprung ere the last strains of that zooming nautical air are stilled.

Jack, an old Navy man, appears to be weathering it quite well, though there was a band in Pennsylvania the other day that hit enough clinkers to sour milk production as far away as Hershey.

Al Smith had his "East Side, West Side," F.D.R. his "Happy Days Are Here Again" and Harry Truman his "Missouri Waltz," each of which sent them into routines close to their hearts and memory pots.

"Anchors Aweigh" is the young senator's cue to climb the platform, wave to the crowd, get introduced, and go into his act. He makes a splendid appearance as he steps forward, lithe, lean and eager. He has learned something that Eddie Foy, Lew Dockstader, Fanny Brice and scores of others knew generations before the senator was born—that nothing goes over bigger than a local reference. Jack didn't have a thing to say about the Pittsburgh Pirates in New Jersey, but just the mention of them rocked the meeting in a public square in Harrisburg, Pa.

The senator's impact on women is as sharp and clear as that of any pre-television matinee idol. He is a strikingly good looking, cleanly cut young man who, upon opening his mouth, quickly reassures the men in his audiences that he is not in this business simply to charm their wives and daughters. His voice is instantly manly without being strident. His scholarship, his feeling for the historical past and the ironclad effervesence of his dream of a bright future all make themselves apparent quickly, clearly.

Adlai Stevenson could never talk to an unknown audience without giving the impression that he was talking down to it, adjusting his own intellectual sights to fit those whose support he sought. Jack Kennedy, even better schooled, talks basic English (his old International News Service training, of course) and he has the knack of grasping the hands of complete strangers as if they were long-lost friends.

Reporters covering a presidential candidate don't really see much of him. They get advance copies of what the senator is going to say at each stop. The trouble here seems to be that nobody gets around to giving Jack one. He's a very free-wheeling speaker, the senator from Massachusetts, and abhors the idea of reading from a prepared text.

The reportorial problem is that many of the working stiffs write up his speeches in advance, send the stories on to their papers and then, alas, find that Jack talked about something else.

Your Four Cents Worth

Luring Labor

Wahoo, Neb.

As a disciple of William Jennings Bryan and a Democrat for over 60 years, I am not only disappointed but disgusted with Sen. Kennedy's political philosophy. In his ambition to be elected president, he is soliciting the support of our irresponsible labor leaders, including the racketeering labor leaders.

Those leaders, who by their constant demand for a rising spiral of wages and fringe benefits have brought distress and near bankruptcy to our farmers, have priced us out of the world markets, and they alone are responsible for our unemployment. Imports of steel, cars and other products exceed our exports by millions, and as a result our gold reserve is disappearing. Unless the trend is reversed, our money will become worthless.

If our economy is to be stabilized, our wages and salaries must come down, useless and unnecessary expenditures must be eliminated, and our national debt reduced. If this is not done, our country, like the Roman empire, will disintegrate, resulting in a communist dictatorship.

I challenge Mr. Kennedy to disprove the charges I am making.

Cheers

Fremont, Neb.

The newspapers report that a Democratic publicity man preparing for Vice-Presidential Candidate Lyndon Johnson's September 22 visit in Lincoln has announced that a $25 award will be given to the University of Nebraska organized house which comes up with the most impressive banners and the loudest cheers during the latter's visit.

Sounds like the Democrats are really desperate for boosters.

If 25 fraternity or sorority house members each cheering 25 times win the award, that would be four cents a cheer.

This cheer project could be expanded nationally by the Democrats in line with their "New Frontiers" program. If some 175 million Americans would cheer for Kennedy and Johnson one hundred times each at four cents a cheer, that would produce a $700 million dollar cheer program, which should be enough to justify doing away with one of the Democrats' other big spending give-away programs. If it could be further expanded into a grant-in-aid program with the states matching this $700 million dollar outlay, that would make it a $1,400,000,000 Democratic success.

The Democrats' "New Frontiers" would then be well on their way.

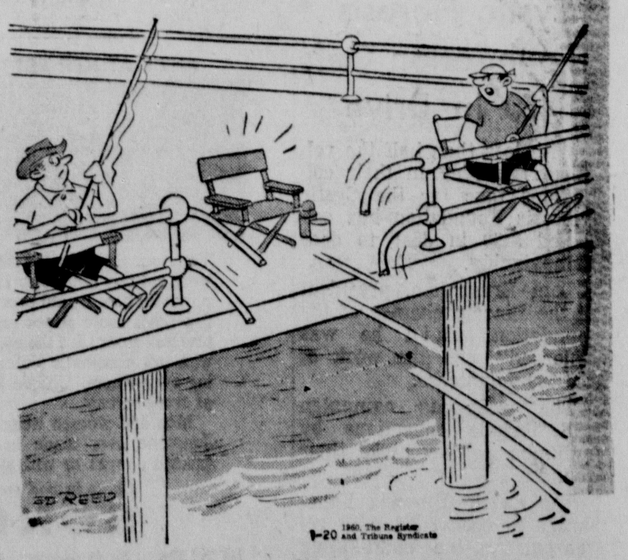
Off THE RECORD By Ed. Reed



"Rollo's a lucky stiff! . . . always hooking the big ones."

Stan Delaplane's POSTCARD

The very newest thing that will come into your life—you should live so long! The newest thing will be a can that requires no can opener.

"The new can will be opened merely by lifting a tab. Pulling this tab will lift off the entire top of the can."

With this message is a photo showing a hand tearing off the top of the new can. It is a real photo, only slightly retouched. So I guess there really is such a can. Not just a press agent's dream.

From my experience with cans, I can tell you one thing. If you can tear the top off that can, that can can tear an arm off you.

☆ ☆ ☆

Last year, Americans opened 42 billion cans — 259 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Those are figures released by the aluminum people. Kaiser and Alcoa hope everybody will open more cans next year — the more the merrier.

This is a LOT of cans, And the figures are interesting.

The point is that these cans were not opened by women and children.

When they get the edges all ragged. Or the coffee can unwinds in a snarled steel ribbon. Or the key on the sardine can winds off the track.

Help!

☆ ☆ ☆

This is when the men take over. "Help-" "Yes, dear, what is it?" "Can you help me with this can?" she says helplessly. "I have to put the roast on."

You are then handed a can with enough edges to cut your throat.

The way Madam gets this can started is a caution.

Once I bought us a can opener that goes on the wall. It had hinges so you could swing it out and hinges so you could swing it away. It was guaranteed.

You put the can up against it. You pulled a lever and wound a crank. The can spun around as pretty as you please. And the top came off like a diplomat's hat.

"It is absolutely foolproof," said the hardware store man. And, like a fool, I bought it.

☆ ☆ ☆

This can opener is foolproof. But it is not boyproof. First, when this can opener was swung out, it was a perfect place to hang dishtowels.

Second, it was just what a 5-year-old boy needs to pull himself up on the sink. So he can get a class out of the cupboard.

The can opener clung sturdily to the wall while this boy was 3 and 4. But when he grew up to 5, the screws pulled out.

We have been meaning to fix it. But I keep forgetting to get the plastic wood for the holes. And one thing and another.

Meanwhile, back in the kitchen——.

The way a lady begins to open a can is like this:

She looks for the hand can opener. Well, would you believe it? That can opener has disappared. We seem to remember that we used it as a screwdriver to loosen the screws on the screen.

The reason we did that is because the screwdriver has disappeared.

We used that to fish a tennis ball out of the rain gutter.

Well, now you take a big, lethal butcher knife. And you punch a hole in the can. The lady intends to saw the top out. She pushes the blade in with both hands —her eye is two inches from the blade.

She saws the blade around. For some reason, it does not go around the edge. It goes toward the middle. Help$

This is the way cans have been opened since cans and can openers were invented. And you can talk about tabs and lift-off tops and the new era when you can open your 259 cans with a flick of the wrist.

Nothing will replace the kitchen knife.

Lucile Cypreansen Named To Committee

Miss Cypreansen is supervisor of the speech and hearing laboratory at the University of Nebraska.

JUDGES ASSN. SEEKS MEETING OF NEW, OLD

Because of a heavy turnover in district judges anticipated next year, the Nebraska District Judges Assn. has proposed a meeting of old and new judges "where the experience of the judges holding over could be offered and the new judges assisted in getting started in their new positions."

The proposal, involving a possible emergency appropriation to cover expenses, accompanied the biennial budget request for district judges, submitted to the office of State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson.

Nebraska faces "the greatest turnover of district judges in the history of the state for the next term," said a letter from H. Emerson Kokjer, president of the judges association.

He estimated that expenses of the proposed orientation meeting would average about $50 for each of the 35 judges, or $1,750.

The $1,750 item would raise a deficiency appropriation expected to be asked of the next Legislature to $11,350, the letter said.

The shortage of funds to finish out the biennium ending next June 30 results in part from the last Legislature's failure to take into account an increase from 6 to 8 cents in mileage allowances, the letter said.

Road Requests Far Exceed Funds

Southwestern Delegations At Gathering

North Platte (AP) — Representatives of 19 towns and 4 highway associations in southwest Nebraska were told Monday that requests for road construction projects in the area would cost more than 5 times the amount of money available.

At a Highway Advisory Commission information meeting here, John Hossack, acting state engineer, said requests by various delegations for primary road work in the area totaled $3½ million while only $1,680,000 is available. Secondary road requests in the same area totaled $9 million, he said and again only $1,680,000 is available.

Among projects for which road delegations spoke at Monday's hearing were:

Hard surfacing of Nebraska 61 north of Arthur;

Hard surfacing of Nebraska 92 in the Stapleton and Tryon area;

Hard surfacing of Nebraska 40 north of Gothenburg and Nebraska 40 connecting Arnold and Gothenburg;

Hard surfacing of Nebraska 23 from Wallace to Dickens;

Hard surfacing of Nebraska 25 from Sutherland to Wallace;

Widening of U.S. 30 between O'Fallons and Paxton;

Hard surfacing of state spur 1,183 from U.S. 183 to Comstock;

Extension of Nebraska 47 south of Farnam to the Red Willow County line.

Wider bridges north and south of North Platte on U.S. 83;

Widening of U.S. 30 inside North Platte.

Most of the delegations indicated they favored retention of the 7-cent gasoline tax to provide extra road funds.

Highway associations represented were 92, 61, 30 and 183.

Also at the hearing were state Senators Dwain Williams of Broken Bow, Lewis Webb of Ogallala and Harry Pizer of North Platte.

Pizer spoke briefly saying he hoped the commission would soon be made an executive body instead of an advisory group.

Bruce Gillan of the Highway Department said about 36 miles of primary roads and 58 miles of secondary roads will be built near North Platte.

Kirk Mendenhall, North Platte commission member, said 800 miles of roads have received dustless surfacing during the past biennium.

3,000 Guests Expected At Milford's Barbecue

. . . 1,500 Pounds Beef In Pit

By Gene Budig

Milford — The Milford Chamber of Commerce will have friends in for dinner Tuesday.

Places will be set for 3,000 of 'em.

And, chamber chefs say there could be even more at the annual Fall Festival's barbecue.

"In order to feed the folks" head chef Charles Allison explained, "at least 25 of the chamber boys will be serving."

More than 1,500 pounds of beef will be sliced and plattered.

The beef was placed in a 4-foot pit Sunday and will be ready for empty tummies early Tuesday.

"The fired pit works as a pressure cooker on the meat," Allison related.

Downtown picnic tables have been set up to accomodate the throng.

The festival offcially opened here Monday with a carnival and square dance. An estimated 2,000 persons turned out for opening day.

Big Parade Set

In addition to the barbecue, a giant parade highlights the Tuesday festivities.

Latest reports from the chamber are that 30 floats will pass in review. This is 5 more than a year ago.

The yearly event is designed to:

—Greet the new Nebraska Vocational Technical School students.

—Give the community a chance to sit back and relax.

NEBRASKA'S FALL PIG CROP TO BE LARGER

Washington (AP) — An Agriculture Department survey indicated Monday that the 1960 fall pig crop will be 3% smaller in 10 Midwestern corn belt states than a year ago. Nebraska is an exception. These states normally produce about three-fourths of the nation's hogs.

This probably means, officials said, that pork prices will continue above levels of a year ago well into the late winter.

Farmers cut back on hog production last spring in reaction to a sharp decline in prices.

The survey showed, however, that farmers in these states are planning to produce 4% more pigs during the first half of the 1961 spring season than a year ago. Hog prices have improved in recent months, and now are running about 20% above year-ago levels.

The survey indicated 4,072,000 sows have farrowed or will farrow during the June-November periods this year, which is about the same as in 1958, but 14% larger than the 1949-58 average.

States covered by the survey are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

The number of hogs and pigs, on farms Sept. 1 in these states was reported at 45,819 head. This is 12% less than a year earlier.

The indicated fall crops and the percentage change from a year earlier' respectively, by states, included: Illinois 812,000 or 98; Wisconsin 207,000 or 92; Minnesota 382,000 or 99; Iowa, 1,168,000 or 98; Missouri 500,000 or 95; South Dakota 109,000 or 11; Nebraska 210,000 or 107.

The department said all states except Indiana and Nebraska indicate more sows will be farrowed during the first half of the 1961 spring season than a year earlier.

11 Miles Of Interstate May Open In October

Another segment of the Lincoln-Omaha Interstate route should be ready for motorists by mid-October, State Highway Department officials reported Monday.

The nearly-completed segment will connect U.S. 34 northwest of Lincoln with U.S. 6 near Waverly, providing an 11-mile bypass north of Lincoln's Cornhusker Highway, according to G. C. Strobel, acting deputy state engineer.

Initially the new segment will have 3 interchanges—one at each end connecting with U.S. 34 and U.S. 6 and one at the intersection of U.S. 77 between Lincoln and Wahoo.

A fourth intersection will be built later to connect the Lincoln downtown access route.

Weather Delay

Completion of the Lincoln-Omaha segment of the Interstate has been held up by relatively damp summer and fall weather, and now is not expected to be complete until the spring of 1961.

Among the problems which held contractors back from meeting an earlier announced opening date of late 1960 was delay in filling operations, mainly because of rains in the Ashland-Platte River area where fill failed to dry and settle to allow for grading work.

Completion of the middle segment of the Omaha-Lincoln route depends upon the weather, Strobel explained. A long dry period with no severe cold might allow completion by early 1961, he said, while a severe winter might delay paving until May, and completion until late June or July.

Opened last week was the Interstate stretch from Dodge St. west of Omaha to the L St. interchange near Omaha. A section southwest from L St. to near the Gretna fish hatchery corner has been in use for some time.

The new stretch opened last week brought the number of Interstate 80 miles now in use in the state to 16.

Hastings — A number of topics, including production and livestock loans to farmers and stockmen, were discussed during the recent two-day conference of Production Credit Assn. officials in Hastings.

Other subjects studied included the impact of farm adjustment on small towns; operations of the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Omaha and the PCAs, which the credit bank serves in Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming; and a new program in advertising and public relations.

Wives attending the conference participated in a special proggam, which included a tour of the planetarium and Good Samaritan Village.

London Now Has American-Style Parking Tickets

. . . Grim Reception

London (UPI) — American-style parking tickets have come to London. The reception was grim.

An irate driver plucked the ticket from the windshield wiper and complained bitterly.

"I accepted American hot dogs. I accepted American iced tea. But this, this I most certainly do not accept," he asserted.

He gripped the ticket as though to shred it and then thought better of it as he spotted the "traffic warden" who had issued it. He put it in his pocket.

Until Minister of Transport Ernest Marples toured the United States to study the ticket system, a recorded traffic violation meant a trip to court, a trial had to be held, and the judge decided the fine.

Now, London's illegal parkers who get caught do as their American cousins do — go to a court office and pay a fixed fine. The rate was set at $5.60 a ticket.

HOW TO BE READY FOR COLLEGE WHEN YOUR CHILDREN ARE

A suggestion that may help you meet the rising costs of education

Putting your children through college is more expensive than it used to be. In the last twenty years, the cost of a college education has generally doubled. Some say it's going to rise just as fast in the years ahead.

Perhaps the next few paragraphs will help you to meet such costs.

A second income that can grow

There's a kind of income that has a chance to grow over the years. It comes from dividends on good stock. When you own stock, you're part owner of a company. You can share in any profits. And share in any growth through possible increase in dividends. Lots of people find tuition bills easier to pay today because they began acquiring good stock when their children were young.

You don't have to be an expert to invest

Today there are more than 12,500,000 shareowners. Nearly half earn from $5,000 to $10,000 a year. Practically all began investing very modestly. And you could hardly call them experts. The important thing is to follow a few simple rules. Remember that prices go down as well as up. Use only money not needed for daily expenses or to provide for emergencies. Bear in mind that there are bad investments as well as good. So get facts—never depend on mere tips or rumors.

Where to get responsible advice and help

Not far from you there's almost sure to be a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Make it your headquarters for investing. The people who will help you there have met the Exchange's requirements for knowledge and integrity. Ask their opinion about the more stable income that bonds usually provide. You might want to consider both stocks and bonds when you're planning for college expenses.

What to do right now

You'll enjoy our wonderfully helpful free booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." It lists stocks that have paid progressively higher dividends in recent years. It gives the records of more than 400 stocks that have paid a cash dividend each year from 25 to 112 years. And it describes the very convenient Monthly Investment Plan through which you can acquire stock in famous companies by investing with as little as $40 every three months, up to $1,000 a month.

Send the coupon and let us mail you a copy free. Plan to be ready to meet those college expenses when the time comes.

CARNIVAL RIG RUNS WILD; 4 ARE KILLED

Carbondale, Pa. (AP) — A tractor-trailer coming down a long, twisting mountain road went out of control suddenly and in moments took 4 lives.

The trailer, from a touring carnival, was carrying a portable generator and a supply of gasoline that quickly spread fire through a house into which the big rig slammed to halt its runaway after it had smashed a car and gone through two telephone poles.

Killed were Edward Stiles, 62, Archbald, near Scranton, who was the lone occupant of the car; Ollie Winders, 33, Dallas, Tex., driver of the tractor-trailer; his 19-year-old wife and 5-week-old daughter.

No one in the house was hurt.

SPOTTER SYSTEM

Family across the street has a new game, courtesy of the geography teacher. Each week one child is assigned to cut out four magazine picture-scenes — for instance, a famous mountain, an ancient building, a street-scene quickly identifiable with a certain country. These are pinned to four pieces of cork, and then hung where they are visible to all the family. After a few days' pondering, other family-members must tell where-in-the-world each place is. (Dad hasn't won a full quartet yet. But the child with the lowest geography marks has won twice!)

WIDER VISTAS

Grandma had to stay home to watch her woodstove. But you can rush in from bridge, take out a casserole perfectly-baked by an automatically-timed gas oven. Add a salad crisped by your gas refrigerator, and serve a smacking-good supper! Natural gas and modern gas appliances work while you play. You're free to gather gossip, good ideas and high bridge scores! Northern Natural Gas Company transports gas hundreds of miles to your town. Your local gas company brings it to you — for a life of widened interests!

Health Board Asks Swim Pool Action

. . . APPROVES BIG BUDGET HIKE

The State Board of Health Monday directed T. A. Filipi, chief of the health department's sanitation division, to draw up proposed legislation which would give the state authority to close public swimming pools which fail to come up to health standards.

At present, Filipi said, the state lacks the power to close offending pools. And four years of urging have failed in some cases to bring any improvement in offending pools, he said.

A sanitation division inspector who visited 159 Nebraska swimming pools this summer has prepared a report listing the state's best pools as well as the worst pools, Filipi said.

Names Best

He identified the best pools as those at Arapahoe, Auburn, Big Springs, Bridgeport, Central City, Creighton, Fairbury, Fremont city pool, Hastings city pool, Holdrege, Lexington, McCook City pool, Madison, North Platte city pool, Seward, St. Paul, Sutton, Wausa and York.

The worst pools were not listed but the report listing them is expecting to be released later.

(Lincoln and Omaha pools were not inspected, Filipi said, because they come under local health departments.)

Filipi said the 1960 inspections showed only 43 per cent of the pools carry the proper amount of chlorine residual, and some have showed no evidence of chlorine in the last four years.

Increase Approved

In other business at its monthly meeting, the health board gave its blessing to a health department budget request for the next biennium which would require a 47 per cent increase in state tax funds.

The proposed budget asks $657,543 in state tax funds for the 2-year period beginning next July 1, compared with $447,358 allowed for the current biennium.

Other health department money comes from federal funds and state fees collected.

The proposed budget would provide a 29.7 per cent increase in funds for dental health, a 60.6 per cent increase in funds for the administration of public health work, a 98.3 per cent increase in hospital survey, planning and construction funds, a 366.0 per cent increase for vital statistics, a 15.4 per cent increase for maternal and child health, a 12.7 per cent increase for water pollution and a 53.7 per cent increase for venereal disease control.

The $283,559 requested for public health work administration would permit the employment of a deputy director of health, a health program representative for civil defense and three others.

The requested budget envisions one-step salary increases for all employes on the anniversary date of the last increase, except for those employees who have reached the maximum pay level under the current merit system schedule.

Mrs. Kennedy Hosts At Tea

JACKIE WELCOMES QUESTIONS THAT MAKE HER 'A PERSON'

Washington (AP) —Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy said Monday she welcomes questions that help make her a person rather than a clothes horse.

She avowed her deep interest in education, particularly exchange students declaring: "I was one myself." She spent a year in school in France.

Mrs. Kennedy said political issues like medical care for the aged and the minimum wage that her presi fights for are fields in which she is "passionately interested."

Mrs. Kennedy, who has been drawn into a verbal battle over clothes she wears, her hair-do and what she spends in shops, evidenced disapproval of such topics at a tea in her Georgetown home.

Kennedy aides had sent invitations to western women's editors to come to Washington to meet Mrs. Kennedy in her home because she won't be campaigning but, largely it was a conclave of some 20 Washington newspaperwomen. The only out-of-towners: a Los Angeles Times reporter and one from the London Daily Mirror.

Coolly Answers

Wearing a chic, black maternity dress purchased in New York last week, she sat on a small bench before the living room fireplace and coolly answered questions on topics ranging from what she'll name her expected baby to how many languages she speaks (4).

Apologetically, one reporter said she'd been asked to ask whether Mrs. Kennedy would go shopping with no hose or wearing capri pants if she got into the White House.

"Of course I wouldn't," said Jacqueline, showing restrained irritation. "I never leave my house unless I think I'm suitably dressed."

Mrs. Kennedy said, "I've no desire to be drawn into a controversy" with Mrs. Pat Nixon, either.

Smoking a cigarette and speaking in low, slow voice, she declared it's worse to be on the sidelines of her husband's presidential campaign than to be in the midst of it. It's very sad, she added, not to be able to take part in "the major endeavor of his life — when I was through all the Senate campaigns."

Watches His Diet

She lamented about Jack's dawn-to-post-midnight schedule and noted that in New York last week he ate nothing but two bowls of soup one day. When she's along, Mrs. Kennedy said, she can watch his diet and help conserve his energy.

Because she can't participate in person, she said, she's started writing a weekly column "Campaign Wife". Did she write it herself, or have a ghost writer, Mrs. Kennedy was asked.

"Yes, I did — I won't sign my name to anything I don't write," said Mrs. Kennedy, who once was an inquiring photographer for the Washington Times-Herald.

She reports her baby is due early in December and if a boy will be named after his father. So far, she hasn't got a girl's name. But Mrs. Kennedy says she didn't care whether it's a boy or girl. The Kennedys now have a 3-year-old daughter.

CAB Completes Investigation Of Crete Crackup

The Civil Aeronautics Board has investigated the crash of an Air Force-owned T-34 airplane Aug. 25 near Crete which killed two Air Force officers. They were members of a local flying club.

The results of the investigation, in which the State Department of Aeronautics also participated, will be forwarded to the CAB office in Washington, D.C. Mel Wood, local representative of the Federal Aviation Agency, said the outcome of the investigation will be announced there.

The Air Force had loaned the plane to the base's Aero Club which used the craft for recreational flying.

Burney Says Voters Should Pass Industrial Amendment

Gov. Dwight Burney said Monday that the kind of backing given the proposed constitutional amendment to help attract industry to Nebraska warrants its endorsement by the state's voters in November.

The late Gov. Ralph Brooks called the Legislature into special session in August to place on the November ballot an amendment to the constitution designed to aid the state's efforts to get new industry.

Authorizes Bonds

The proposal would authorize counties, cities and villages to issue revenue bonds to defray the cost of purchasing and developing sites and buildings for lease to private industry.

As lieutenant governor, Burney presided over the special session of the legislature, but did not cast a vote on the proposal. He was asked Monday his opinion of the amendment.

"The Legislature endorsed it and the people who came to the hearings on the bill strongly endorsed it," he noted.

"Since it has that kind of backing, in my opinion, the people should endorse it in November," Burney said.

Effect Good

There is some question about how extensively the amendment would be used, but its passage would have a good psychological effect on selling Nebraska to industry, he said.

If the amendment is approved by the voters, "there may be few cities which will use it," Burney said, adding that, in any event, its passage "would indicate we are in favor of having more industry in Nebraska."

Jerome Warner Pledges Support Of Mosquito Bill

Legislative candidate Jerome Warner Monday urged Lincoln citizens "to fully support the Lincoln Jaycees in their efforts to formulate an effective mosquito abatement program."

Warner is a candidate for the legislature from the 18th District.

"Legislation which would permit joint city-county action will be more flexible to the needs and most economical in its cost," Warner said.

"If elected to the Legislature, I pledge my full cooperation to the passage of effective legislation for mosquito control."

Dangerous Game Now Underway, Says Briton

Washington (AP)—The Earl of Home, Britain's new foreign secretary, said the world situation has reached the point where the major powers are playing "too dangerous a game" at the United Nations.

"It really isn't any good making speeches at each other," Lord Home told a National Press Club luncheon.

Jacob's Well & the Beam Family

In 1795 Jacob Beam dug his well in Kentucky and created Beam Bourbon... still being made here today by the 5th and 6th generations of the Beam family

Taste Beam and you'll know how really good a bourbon can be. But only the Beams know how to make it taste so good.

In 1795 Jacob Beam dug his well and began making his very special kind of Kentucky bourbon under a formula that has remained within the Beam family for six generations. Today the 5th & 6th generation Beams, using Jacob's original formula including the precise measures of grain, sweet jug yeast, and his exacting ritual of hilltop aging, bring you a bourbon Worthy of your Trust.

That's why today, as for 165 years—only Beam tastes like Beam—only Beam tastes so good.

Off the Beaten Path

It was a typical Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Average American. The entire family was gathered in front of the television set watching with interest a certain blond curvaceous entertainer singing a torch song.

In the middle of the performance the young man of the family, a six year-old Cub Scout, nudged his father and said—

"Gee, Dad, wouldn't she make a swell Den mother?"

The entertainer was Marilyn Montro.

Airline stewardesses are justifiably noted for their tact and courtesy — unusual qualities in these times of frantic rush and rudeness — but even these charming demoiselles can sometimes be pushed too far.

Overheard on a recent plane trip was a pert, slim redhead in airlines uniform who had been darting up and down the aisle breathlessly trying to keep up with the demands of a grumpy male passenger.

After hanging up his coat, inclining his chair, tucking a pillow under his head, adjusting his reading light and answering innumerable questions about his flight schedule, she politely asked him if he would like a cup of coffee.

"No", he growled.

"Tea"?

"No".

"Hot chocolate or milk"?

"No".

Unable to control herself any longer — and to the glee of the other passengers — the bright-haired miss snapped, "Do you mean to say you're going to sit there all the way to Omaha and do NOTHING"?

Then there is the story of a bride-elect who took great and extra pains with her shower thank-you note to another bride-to-be. The note stated how much she appreciated the gift, but even more appreciation was given to the bride-to-be's presence at the shower — special gratitude, in fact, since the writer of the note knew exactly how busy her friend was with wedding plans and such.

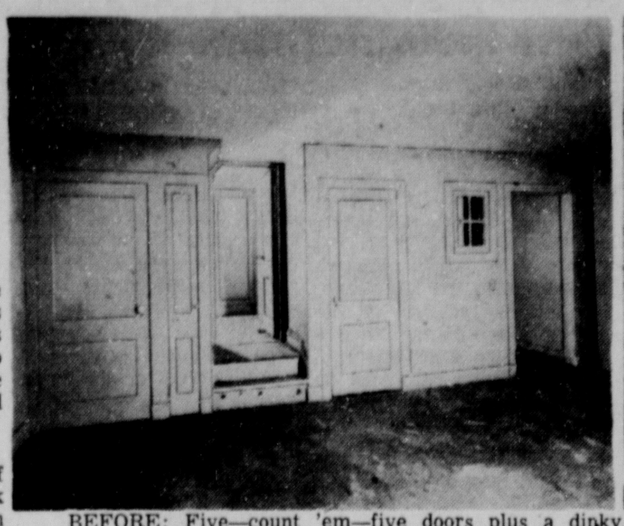
The note was received — but there was just one thing wrong with it. The bride-to-be to whom it was written did not attend the party.

Everyone knows that a bride leads a hectic existence those last few months preceding the wedding— There are parties, fittings, plans — and such details as wedding invitations and such and things.

One recent bridegroom, however, wonders if the pre-wedding merry-go-round is a legitimate excuse for his fiancee not spelling his name correctly on the wedding invitation.

Our bride was undaunted. She went to the printers and ordered some new invitations — just enough for the bridegroom's family and close friends. And we wonder if she has yet told her parents.

OLD ROOM TAKES ON NEW LOOK



BEFORE: Five—count 'em—five doors plus a dinky window make a mess of this wall space, rule out the possibility of any furniture placement. No ordinary paint or wallpaper treatment could serve to unify these various elements.

But there is a way—and one that is not too difficult to change this horror into something unusual and attractive.

THE SOLUTION: Fabric covered screens which rest flat against the wall when not in use, but which are hinged for easy access to doors. They unify what was a disrupted wall area and make it the decorative feature of the room. Elegant print is on a shimmering fabric of acetate and silk. Color television set now nests in closet.

Tour of the Town

Lincoln comes to the foreground again in a completely fabulous way. It has been given a very distinct honor which is not on the books for today—tomorrow, or even next week. It will take place in November, 1961 — some thirteen-plus months away, but committees already are meeting to make plans for the great event.

And the great event? Well, Lincoln has been chosen as one of six cities throughout the United States in which a Children's Book Fair will be held. The Fair is sponsored by the Children's Book Fair Council and in addition to numerous authors and publishers, it will bring to Lincoln 1500 children's books which will be donated to the city.

At the moment there are various ideas as to where the 1500 books should go, but the consensus seems to be that there will be something of an equal division between Lincoln's libraries, orphanages and children's wards in the local hospitals.

A tour of the city's activities includes something far more current than the Book Fair—It is an art tour planned for Sunday, Sept. 25.

The tour of four—actually we should say five—Lincoln homes has been planned by the Nebraska Art Association to give emphasis and impetus to its Rental-Sales Gallery, and to demonstrate the use of original art works in the home.

Some of the paintings, the sculpture, the prints are owned by the members of the Art Association whose homes are included in the tour, but added to these will be works from the Association's permanent collection, and still others have been loaned by prominent Boston and New York dealers for the Sunday afternoon tour and will be for rental or sale.

Among the homes to be visited is that of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Angle, 1524 Crestline Dr., where one will be able to see the effective use of painting, sculpture and drawings in a completely contemporary house.

There will be a visit, also, to the home of Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Cherry, 2040 So. 35th St. Dr. and Mrs. Cherry chose a home that is Early American in its feeling, and here one will find the works of American artists of the past.

At the home of Dr. and Mrs. Fred Ferciot, 4041 Calvert, there will be a touch of the Orient combined with contemporary in paintings and sculpture.

Now we come to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Wells, 1235 Piedmont. Here, in a combination of modern and traditional, one will find a variety of works.

So—there it is—a wonderful way to spent a September afternoon, and all you need is your 1960 Nebraska Art Association membership card. And if, perchance you thought that the exhibition last spring, and the visit of Vincent Price was the end of your art experiences for the year—well, find your ticket.

Those who did not purchase membership tickets last spring need not stay home. Tickets will be available at any one of the homes included in the tour—And that reminds us—

We are told that the balance of this year's gallery, for which there was no room in the above four homes, may be seen at the home of Miss Laura Ingham, 2626 Park Ave.

He is married and I have a boy friend, so I don't see where this kind of familiarity is going to get us. The boss also has a dirty mind and twists everything that is said to mean something suggestive. I've worked here almost a year and I like my job. My boss says he has plans to advance me soon, so wouldn't I be foolish to quit now and look for another job? How can I keep him from getting too friendly without telling him off and getting fired?

DEAR ALL BUSINESS: If I read correctly between the lines, your boss plans to advance you to his lap. I advise you to gather your belongings and clear out of there.

DEAR ABBY: A woman named Sonia complained that her husband "slid" into restaurant booths first and she had to sit on the outside. You told her to "overlook" his bad manners. Abby, could it be that both you and Sonia "overlooked" a fine courtesy in her husband? Many women prefer to let the men get into a car or booth first because, if they "slide" in, their girdles would get turned around on their hips. I have this trouble and the "sliding in" business is not for me.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

In many hands the declarer can force the opponents to reveal their distribution. This, in turn, may enable declarer to solve what would otherwise be a difficult problem.

West led the A-K of hearts, East playing high-low, and continued with the queen. South ruffed high in dummy, drew two rounds of trumps, and then was faced with the question of how to avoid the possible diamond loser.

He could fully guarantee the contract by finessing successfully against the queen, but since the finesse could be taken in either direction, the result depended upon which defender he decided to play for the missing queen.

Since West had made an overcall and was more likely than East to have any missing strength, declarer decided that West had the queen. He therefore led the ace and another diamond, intending to finesse, but West showed out and the jib was up. There was no way now to avoid the diamond loser and South went down one.

Declarer's approach to the play was faulty. Since it was obvious from the beginning that the contract would stand or fall depending upon the diamond guess, South should have delayed his decision until he had ferreted out much more information about the makeup of the adverse hands.

This he could have accomplished, after trumping the heart in dummy, by cashing the A-K of spades and ruffing a spade, after which he could take two rounds of trumps and then ruff dummy's last spade.

If declarer had made these plays, five clubs would have become an absolute certainty. The guess for the diamond queen would have been eliminated and its location in East's hand would have become a crystal clear proposition.

West, having already been proved to have started with exactly four spades, six hearts, and two clubs, could then have only one diamond, neither more nor less. The play of a diamond to the king, followed by a finesse of the jack, would have been sure to succeed and make the contract.

CHATTER —in the— CORRIDOR

BY JEAN PERRIN

Hi!

This year already promises to be an interesting and exciting one for Lincoln High students who were getting into the swing of activities long before the school year opened.

The football season was welcomed by an all school pep rally held in the Lincoln High oval the night of Sept. 7. However, there was earlier fun when Rosemarie Jacobs entertained at a prerally dinner for the Cheerleaders and Pepper officers.

"Cokes and Chatter" was the theme of a party given prior to our ever-important first game of the season, Sept. 10. Hostesses were Jan Reimers and Joan Rockwell. From Joan's home the girls went to Omaha to cheer our team on.

Lincoln High will not seem so large and puzzling to the new sophomore girls during their first weeks of school. The traditional tea held for them Sept. 11, by the Coed Counselors gave the girls a chance to become acquainted with the students and faculty members as well as the school building.

Newly painted walls and lockers greeted students as they entered the building the first day of school. Changes did not stop here. Initiated this year were a closed-campus ruling and shorter lunch periods, but our free time is made more enjoyable by the use of our recently constructed patio and remodeled lounge.

Representing France at Lincoln High are Marie-Odile Combes from Bourgen Bresse, and Bernard Huguenin from Lyon. They are seniors, attending school under the AFS program. "America is a wonderful country," was the opinion expressed by both students. They like our co-educational system and the casual relationship between students and teachers. Their schools are more formal, and boys and girls are separated. Football is new and very exciting for them.

The officers heading our pep club are: president, Carol Gartin; vice presidents, Mary Gilbert and Nancy Stark; secretary, Judy Filbert; and treasurer, Donna Peterson. The 317 Peppers helped cheer the Links to victory over Omaha North on September 16. Leading them were Varsity Cheerleaders Karen Benting, Phyllis Cotton, Terry David, Gretchen Greenwald, Judie Grundeman, Dixie Hufnagle, Rosemarie Jacobs, Jean Perrin, Barbara Shuman, Cathy Stump, Mary Thorpe, and Annie Laurie Whitmer.

Lincoln High students are being offered the opportunity to take beginning Russian this semester. It is hoped enough students will be able to work it into their schedule so that a class can be organized.

Fall Wedding

A popular fall bride-elect is Miss Rita McCurdy who has chosen Saturday, Oct. 15, for her wedding to James P. Kinney. The ceremony will take place at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's Church.

Mr. Kinney, who resides in Fairview Park, Ohio, is completing his tour of duty with the Army in Okinawa.

Here and There

—Happy days are here again judging from our calendar of fun activity this morning—Naturally a large portion of the festivities can be chalked up to the football season generally—and Nebraska's first home game, specifically.

Saturday, Sept. 24, will be an exciting day with pre-game and post-game parties all around town.

One of the pre-game affairs is the buffet luncheon for which Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chapin will be host and hostess at their home when they entertain a group of guests from Lincoln and out of town.

Coming from out of town to attend the luncheon and the game will be Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dinsdale and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dinsdale, all of Palmer, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lorenson and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lorenson of Pender.

—The post-game hors 'd oevre party for which Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wadlow will be host and hostess at their home, is more or less a first-home-game tradition — Mr. and Mrs. Wadlow entertained at their first such party three years ago—and plan to keep the tradition going for many years to come.

Out of town guests invited to the canape affair include Mr. and Mrs. William Hinchcliff, Mr. and Mrs. Don Pieper, Mr. and Mrs. Don Beckenhauer, all of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Joel Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Saalfield of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marks of Tekamah; Mr. and Mrs. William Nuckolls of Fairbury; Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson of Nebraska City, and Bill Melville of Broken Bow.

—Sunday was off-to-school day for Miss Jo Brown who will be a freshman at Christian College, Columbia, Mo., this year. Miss Brown was accompanied to Columbia by her mother, Mrs. John A. Brown, III, and her younger sister, Brenda.

There was a bit of nostalgia awaiting Mrs. Brown. A graduate of Christian College Mrs. Brown had had but a fleeting glimpse of it during the past 20 years.

Clubs Resume Busy Schedule

The annual three-day meeting of the Nebraska HOME EXTENSION Clubs will open Tuesday at McCook with more than 800 club members expected to attend.

Kennedy Pledges Full Employment Economy

. . . STEELWORKERS PROMISE THEIR BACKING

Atlantic City (AP) — Job-conscious Steelworkers Union members Monday heard Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy promise a full employment economy if he is elected in November. The union's 3,000 convention delegates quickly pledged Kennedy their political support.

Delegates seemed to lose none of their enthusiasm for Kennedy when he rejected a pet union proposal for a 32-hour work week in the steel and other American industries.

The Democratic nominee said that with Russian production rising he preferred to see American economic and fiscal policies directed toward "stimulating the economy so that the steel industry works full time" on the present 40-hour week basis.

Big Task

Kennedy said he agreed with Steelworkers' Union President David J. McDonald that with steel mills operating at only half capacity, the task is to get 150,000 idled men back to work and 350,000 part-time workers back on full work time. McDonald proposed the 32-hour week in his opening address.

Both Kennedy and McDonald said while they disagreed on the method, their goal is the same — they want to get full steel employment restored. McDonald said he will nevertheless press for the shorter work week in Congress next year and in 1962 steel contract negotiations.

Back In Virginia

Later, Sen. Kennedy returned to West Virginia — the state that started him on the White House trail — and promised he will rescue it's jobless workers from "Republican indifference and neglect."

He laid a 5-point program intended to solve the problem of chronic joblessness before a 9-state conference on the problems of the nation's depressed areas.

Kennedy sharply challenged the theme of his rival presidential candidate, Vice President Nixon, that the country has "the greatest prosperity that Americans have ever enjoyed."

'Tell To People'

"I challenge Mr. Nixon to tell that to the people of West Virginia, or Pennsylvania, or Kentucky," the Massachusetts senator said.

"I challenge him to tell that to the 4 million people who are out of work, or to the 3 million more who are forced to work only part time — or to the 1 out of every 10 Americans who, in the richest country in the history of the world, are forced to get by on a partial paycheck or none at all."

Economists consider 6% unemployment a danger signal, Kennedy said, and the government gives special help to such "areas of substantial labor surplus."

"But today the unemployment rate for the entire nation is nearly 6%," he went on.

"The whole United States is rapidly becoming an area of substantial labor surplus."

Conrad Hits Curtis Farm Plans, Votes

Lincoln Star Special

David City — "Nebraska farmers cannot afford to return Carl Curtis to the U.S. Senate," Democratic senatorial nominee Robert B. Conrad said here Monday night.

"For every day that he (Curtis) has sat in the U.S. Senate, Nebraska has lost over 15 farms," Conrad told the Butler and Saunders County farmers meeting.

"During the same 5-year period, the cost of farm operation in Nebraska increased $38,000,000 . . . about $54,286 per day," Conrad said.

Curtis, Conrad charged, has "lost touch with the folks at home," and "does not realize that our farm problem has reached staggering proportions in the last 7 years."

Conrad also urged support for the state constitutional amendment to permit issuing revenue bonds to attract industry.

The Krush-Off

London (UPI) — Monday's headline in the tabloid London Star: "New York gives him the krush-off."

An electrical contractor, Jensen is married and has one daughter, Susan, 2.

Kennedy On Air

Aurora — Senator Hans Jensen, chairman of the Citizens for Kennedy organization in Nebraska, Monday night urged Nebraskans to view Senator John Kennedy in his first nationwide telecast scheduled at 6:30 p.m. CST Tuesday night. The Democratic presidential candidate will appear on the ABC network.

India And Pakistan Settle Their Indus River Dispute

. . . Spurred By U.S.-Backed Loan Of Billion

Karachi, Pakistan (AP)—India and Pakistan, won over by a U.S.-supported billion dollar investment plan, have ended a dispute as old as their countries—division of the Indus River waters.

A treaty formally settling the 13-year-old issue was signed by Prime Minister Nehru of India, who arrived here earlier Monday, and President Mohammad Ayub Khan of Pakistan.

The two leaders expressed confidence the pact will enable them to clear up other issues between their nations, including the stubborn argument over ownership of the border state of Kashmir. They will hold 3½ days of discussions.

The billion dollar investment fund will be established under the treaty by the World Bank and 6 member nations —the United States, Australia, Canada, West Germany, New Zealand and Britain.

The program is the product of 8 years of difficult negotiations by World Bank officials with Pakistan and India.

The dispute dated back to 1947, when the two nations won independence from Britain and the boundaries fixed between them cut through 20 million acres in the arid Punjab District. Pakistan received 80% of the irrigated area, but India got the headwaters of the 6 rivers of the Indus system which provide water for irrigation.

Cooper: Fund Charge True, Won't Drop It

Republican gubernatorial nominee John Cooper said Monday he will neither withdraw nor apoligize for allegations that his opponent has accepted a $7,500 campaign contribution from an Omaha labor official.

"Why should I?" Cooper asked. "It is true."

Democratic nominee Frank Morrison "never did specifically deny receiving the money," Cooper said.

"Of course, it is impossible for me to have a picture of him receiving the money, and Morrison knows that.

"But this has happened, and I know it.

"The burden of proof is on Morrison."

Cooper said in a speech in York recently that Morrison received the donation from Leonard Shaeffer of Omaha.

Morrison has denied the charge, and asked Cooper to withdraw the statement and provide the name of his source.

The Democrat also requested the Republican Party to refuse to endorse further statements or actions by Cooper.

Back To School

London (UPI) — Prince Charles, 11, ended his summer vacation at Balmoral Castle and went back to Cheam School with his commoned classmates.

Bob Kennedy Aids Conrad Fund Raising

Robert Kennedy will kick off Robert Conrad's senatorial campaign in Douglas County with a fund-raising appearance Friday in Omaha.

Kennedy, brother of Democratic presidential nominee Sen. John Kennedy, will speak at a luncheon at 12:15 p.m. at the Sheraton-Fontenelle Hotel.

Kennedy will address a student convocation at the University of Omaha at 9:30 a.m.

He will visit Lincoln and a farm near Aurora enroute to a Friday dinner appearance at Hastings.

Kennedy will speak in Sidney Saturday night.

Meanwhile, Sen. Lyndon Johnson's Omaha arrival time Thursday was tentatively set at 11 a.m. at Eppley Airfield.

The vice presidential nominee will address a noon Chamber of Commerce public affairs luncheon at the Omaha Elks Building before flying to Lincoln for a University of Nebraska student convocation at 3:15 p.m.

In another Democratic development, Jim Symington, son of Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, was booked into Nebraska Saturday.

Young Symington will appear at a benefit festival in Tecumseh before traveling to Bellevue for a 7 p.m. Sarpy County fund-raising dinner at the Christian Church.

Regular Schedule Starts At Elliott

Elliott Elementary School, which began half-day sessions Sept. 12, will start on the full-time schedule Tuesday.

Repairs on the hazardous chimney, which was struck by lightning, are proceeding and there is no danger to the children from the work, school officials reported.

Elliott pupils had a bonus vacation over the other 24,000 Lincoln Public School students because of the danger involved with the 65-foot chimney.

Nixon Accuses Demos Of Pork Barrel Politics

. . . SWOOPS INTO HARD COAL COUNTRY

Scranton, Pa. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon swooped into the heart of the coal country Monday night and accused the Democrats of playing pork barrel politics with legislation that could have helped the area.

Nixon called for the next Congress to put aside political considerations and to give the highest urgency at the outset to a bill to help depressed areas.

While the Democratic-controlled Congress did pass a bill, President Eisenhower vetoed it as unsatisfactory. Nixon hit that bill as "straight pork barrel" in remarks prepared for delivery here at a rally in the National Guard Armory.

'Too Widely'

"It spread more dollars so widely," the Republican presidential nominee said, "into place after place that did not need this sort of help that the places like Scranton, where help is critically needed, were left begging."

The vice president was talking in a region hit hard by unemployment. While Lackawanna County (Scranton) and Luzerne County (Wilkesbarre) went Republican in the 1956 election, there is dissatisfaction here now with the economic situation.

Nixon's Scranton speech tried to pin much of the blame for lack of help on the Democratic-led Congress. It was about the hardest rap he has taken at the opposition leadership on Capitol Hill so far in his campaign.

This was the first major speech of the second week of his intensified drive for the White House.

The vice president flew from Washington to the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton airport, drove into Wilkes-Barre first for a talk in the rain at the square in the center of the city, then backtracked to Scranton.

Cheered Loudly

Thousands of people got wet with the vice president and cheered him thoroughly for his often-repeated stand in the Wilkes-Barre square that the great issue of 1960 is who is best equipped to lead America toward peace without surrender.

Nixon told an audience that jammed the streets and park that whatever Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev does at the United Nations "remember that America is strong."

"He's going to say a lot of things," Nixon said. "And he's going to do a lot of things."

The vice president said the times call for maturity and not rashness or immaturity.

Then he said that Khrushchev won't "throw the country off balance."

Without specifying his target, Nixon said some people "have a policy of reacting rashly and immaturely."

Cooper Laws Will Destroy Farm Co-Ops

. . . SAYS MORRISON

Democratic gubernatorial nominee Frank Morrison Monday charged that his opponent favors laws "which will paralyze and destroy the farmers marketing co-operatives which have become an established part of our economy."

Republican John Cooper introduced "this kind of a law" in the 1959 Legislature, Morrison said.

The Cooper legislation "would accomplish this by repealing parts of the existing law and by denying co-ops their present right to withhold part of their sayings to expand their businesses," Morrison continued.

"Manifestly, if members of a co-op want to use some of their savings to expand, they should not be denied that right.

"Cooper's idea is standard with enemies of the co-ops. If he succeeds, every coo-op in the state will be frozen in its tracks.

"My idea is that both farmers and townspeople have a natural right to pool their buying and selling power.

"I promise, as governor, to use every influence in the governor's power to protect these co-ops from those who would destroy them."

Funeral Saturday For Miss Hartzell

Funeral services for Mabel A. Hartzell of 1536 So. 18th, who died Saturday on her farm residence near Eagle, will be 3 p.m. Tuesday at Umbergers Chapel.

Born and reared near Eagle, Miss Hartzell was graduated from the University of Nebraska where she later taught chemistry.

In 1910, she moved to Sinton, Tex., where she had a ranch and oil business. She returned to Lincoln in 1956 and became a farm operator and owner in Eagle.

She was a member of the National Cattlemen's Assn.

She is survived by two cousins, George and Joseph Fraley of Lincoln; two nieces, Mrs. Carl Nelson of San Rafael, Calif., and Mrs. Thomas Corbin of Portola Valley, Calif.; a nephew, Walter G. Hartzell and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Florence Hartzell, both of Sebastopol, Calif.

—THE WOMAN BEHIND THE MAN—

Making Home Mrs. Kennedy's Aim

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of 5 articles on Jaqueline Kennedy, wife of Democratic presidential nominee Sen. John F. Kennedy, by Mary Cremmen, nationally known feature writer.)

By Mary Cremmen

"My happiness is being needed by Jack," said his wife Jacqueline Kennedy.

"He was always so keyed up. What I had to do was make a home for him where he could have peace of mind and refuel away from the tensions of his work."

Everywhere you looked were signs that a child lived there — a small, red chair, 3 dolls, a stack of children's records ("Baa Baa Black Sheep") by a portable record player and a big red ball half hidden under a chair.

Jacqueline continued, "I thought the answer to Jack's relaxing was the country home we bought in McLean, Virginia, in the spring of 1955. Jack had been so sick in the winter with a spinal operation. I thought this would be a wonderful place for him to recuperate."

The beautiful Mrs. Kennedy sighed, "I never guessed how much it would take out of us."

"I was expecting a baby —I had lost my first. The doctor ordered me to bed for 3 months and, after that, refused to let me drive the car.

"I was stranded in McLean and spent long weeks decorating a nursery.

"I would not have minded the loneliness if it had done Jack any good. On the contrary, he was worn out commuting."

It took 25 minutes of driving office "if there was no other cars on the road." But he always went to work at rush hour and wasted 20 minutes just waiting to cross Crane Bridge into Wasington.

The evenings he had engagements, it was too much of a chore for him to return home and freshen up. Instead, he took an extra shirt in the morning and slept in his office.

Other days, to avoid the traffic, he left very early in the morning and did not return home until 9:30 p.m.

"I was alone almost every week end," said his wife, "while Jack traveled the country making speeches."

She summed up, "It was all wrong."

By August, Jacqueline seemed well enough to attend the Democratic National Convention in Chicago where her husband was almost nominated for Vice President. "That night," she said, "he decided to run for President in 1960."

Then came "the black days when my health was miserable." Jacqueline explained, "Jack went to the French Riviera after the convention for a two week rest." There was still such sadness about her as she told, "He was gone only 3 days when I was rushed to the hospital and lost my baby.

"Jack flew right back to be with me at my mother's house in Newport, Rhode Island, where I was convalescing. I told him how I dreaded going back to our house in McLean. I had spent so many months making the nursery.

"Jack was so sweet to me," the Senator's wife smiled. "He said, 'We won't even think about it.' "

Jack sold the house in McLean to his brother Robert who "was having trouble finding a place to fit his big family.

"Now it's a joy," she said, "when Caroline and I go out there at least once a week to see Bob and Ethel's 7 children." The young woman hopes "it's the size house Jack and I will need someday."

Their next move—"by now I had a passion against moving"—was to a tiny house in Georgetown with 4 rooms—living room, dining room, kitchen and one bedroom. The lease was the usual January to June.

"For the 3rd time I expected a baby.

"I was 6 months pregnant," her story went on, "when my father died in August 1957." Jacqueline had a gentleness to her voice when she said, "I had always loved him so much. The loss was horrible. What I wanted more than anything was to give Jack children and now I was terrified that the shock would cause me to lose another baby."

Jacqueline turned to her beautiful little two-and-a-half-year-old Caroline who had just come in, wearing light blue denim overalls and a white jersey.

The mother reached out her hand and said the whole thing in 3 words, "I was blessed."

"My child is named after my sister," she explained. "Her middle name, Bouvier, is for my father."

Even while Jacqueline was recuperating in Newport, she began to wonder what would be their next move. "Again our lease had run out. There was no place for me to go in Washington."

She told Jack what would be the ideal for their next house — Georgetown, a little garden for dining outdoors, space enough for a child's sandpile and, "please, the kitchen, dining room and living room all on the first floor."

He found "the perfect place" — a 3 story red brick house with black shutters and a black front door on a shady street. It was an easy drive to his offfice.

They moved in December 1957.

"I am so happy to have it," said Jacqueline. "It has done so much for Jack Now in the evening, when I look at him, relaxing in a comfortable chair, talking to his friends, it is such a pleasure."

Perhaps in this period in her life when Jacqueline Kennedy found the right house, she also found herself.

"I know now that the hectic life we lead outside has brought us closer together.

"And I know how mistaken I was when we were first married and I yearned to change Jack. I wanted him to be the kind of man who would come home every night at 5.

"Now I look at him with much more respect. I can look at him objectively, as if he were not my husband, and see what an outstanding, exceptional man he is.

"We will never lead a normal life.'" She stressed, "I wouldn't have it any other way.

"I miss my husband when he travels but there is the compensation of being part of great things."

(In the 3rd article of this series, appearing Wednesday, Jacqueline Kennedy tells of her life and her ousy schedule).

Big Job Ahead

One hasty look at the record book should be enough to impress the Nebraska Cornhuskers that Minnesota cannot be defeated solely by their appearance at Memorial Stadium Saturday.

If anything, Nebraska's smashing upset of Texas in the opener served to make this week's assignment even tougher.

Last year Nebraska caught the Gophers unprepared, particularly mentally, and the Huskers skipped to a 32-12 victory.

There will be no sneaking up Saturday. In addition to having a revenge motive, now the Gophers know that Nebraska has a few capabilities, although that obviously did not occur prior to the 1959 game.

Huskers Trail

Let us check just two facts about the Gopher series:

—Nebraska has won only 6 of 36 games.

—Nebraska has never won successive victories, although the Huskers did manage a 6-6 tie in 1919, following a 7-0 win in 1913.

Let us also recall a couple of facts about the Huskers:

—Only twice since 1955 have the Huskers won two straight games, last year Minnesota and Oregon State and in 1956 Missouri and Kansas.

—Let downs have been the rule following big efforts.

With these things in mind, I can't see how the Huskers would entertain even a single notion of over-confidence.

But, in case they're still not convinced, I'll pass on a little information garnered by Bert McGrane of the Des Moines Register on a recent tour of the Big 10:

"Just about everybody in the Big 10 agrees that Minnesota will show a marked improvement in football this fall . . . Prominent football people have said that Minnesota may have the best center and guard in the conference in Greg Larson and Tom Brown . . . The Gophers have plenty of size with their first line averaging about 218 and backs 200. Their roster shows 53 men who weigh 200 or more. Physically, you won't see a better looking squad in the league."

NU Got Help

Winding up the review, we can re-examine the 1959 game. Nebraska won 32-12, helped a great deal by Minnesota. It is worth noting that Nebraska never traveled more than 47 yards to score and the Gophers gave them the ball on each scoring occasion.

—NU recovered a Gopher fumble on the MU 33 to set up the first TD.

—A pass interception on the MU 38 was returned to the 16 before the second.

—Minnesota fumbled and NU recovered on the MU 47 before the 3rd, exactly the same thing that occurred before the 4th.

—A pass interception was returned to the MU 18 before the 5th.

While it would be appreciated in these parts, it is wishful thinking to expect Minnesota to be quite so generous this year.

Nebraska played hard and well at Texas and the Huskers have the potential to be a fine football team. But there isn't an easy game on the schedule, thereby assuring them of hard work each Saturday.

No football game was ever won just because a team showed up—the winner had to play in addition to pulling on the pads.

BILL BACKING SUB RULE

Wild Card Juggling Helped Beat Texas

. . . OMAHANS HEAR REPORT

By Don Bryant

Omaha—The new college football "wild card" rule got a solid vote of confidence from Nebraska coach Bill Jennings here Monday.

During a question session following the Omaha Sportscasters' Football Club meeting, Jennings was asked if he liked the new substitution rule, which allows a coach a single player as many times as he wants to if it doesn't interfere with the play.

"It worked very well and I think it helped us," Jennings said.

Prior to the session at the Hotel Sheraton-Fontanelle attended by a turnaway throng of more than 250 fans --Jennings was more emphatic in his support of the new rule.

"I don't think we could have beaten Texas without it," Bill opined. "We were able to give Pat Fischer some rest, we were able to get Archie Cobb in to punt and we were able to get Don Fricke in to center for the punts."

Pat Gets Rest

While playing 42 minutes against the Longhorns, Fischer did get a few moments rest on defense, thereby helping his offensive efficiency.

The Cobb-Fricke combination worked to perfection against Texas.

If a kicking situation loomed, Fricke was rushed back in the down ahead—either second or 3rd—and then Cobb tore in on the next down to do the punting.

As a result, Cobb averaged better than 35 yards per kick and Fricke supplied perfect, rifle-shot snap-backs. There never was a chance for Texas to block a punt.

"Without Cobb's punting and Fricke's punt centers, we would have been in real trouble," Jennings said.

The Husker coach was much more concerned with Minnesota than gloating about the Texas victory at Monday's gridiron whoop-dedoo.

"We'll certainly have to play as well against Minnesota as we did against Texas—and probably a whole lot better," Bill said.

"Minnesota is a fine team and played everyone else close after we surprised them last year.

"Murray Warmath (Minnesota coach) never put a team on the field that wasn't capable, and he won't next Saturday.

Tremendous Size

"They have tremendous size, something that we cannot be able to contend equally with. So, we'll have to try to find another way.

"I hope we will have enough speed to counteract the weight problem.

"One thing I do know—our squad will give 100 per cent. If it's in the cards for us to win, we will. But if it isn't it won't be because everyone did not give every ounce of effort."

Referring to the Texas victory, Jennings said "both teams played for the other's mistakes and it was a very good opening game because costly mistakes just weren't made.

Played It Safe

"We both played it safe," Bill continued. "By that I mean we didn't take any chances with the football. If you (coaches) don't like to eat it doesn't matter whether or not you throw the ball around.

"But if you like to eat, you try to take care of the ball. There's only one ball on the field and you'd better hang on to it."

Jennings said the squad was in good physical shape, except for the normal bumps and bruises, and all were expected to be ready for Minnesota.

Otis Dypwick, Minnesota publicist who represented Warmath, said the Gophers would have a "typical Big 10 line, averaging about 225 pounds.

Ends Strong

"We feel our strength is at end, while our weakness is at tackle," he said. "In Tom Brown we have the best middle guard in the conference. Our backs will average about 202 and we have better speed.

"However, after watching Nebraska on film, it looks like the Huskers are a much better team than the one which beat us last year.

"We have tremendous respect for Nebraska and anyone would be an idiot to under-rate the Huskers."

NU Given Rest Time

Nebraska's Cornhuskers who fought the heroic battle of Austin had a day of rest Monday, taking it easy in sweat clothes while those who didn't play got in some scrimmage work.

But the holiday is slated to be short-lived since Coach Bill Jennings indicated the Huskers "will work pretty hard Tuesday and Wednesday."

There were no changes in positions at Monday's practice and Jennings said he expected the squad to be at full-strength for the Minnesota Gophers Saturday, barring scrimmage injuries this week.

Long Night

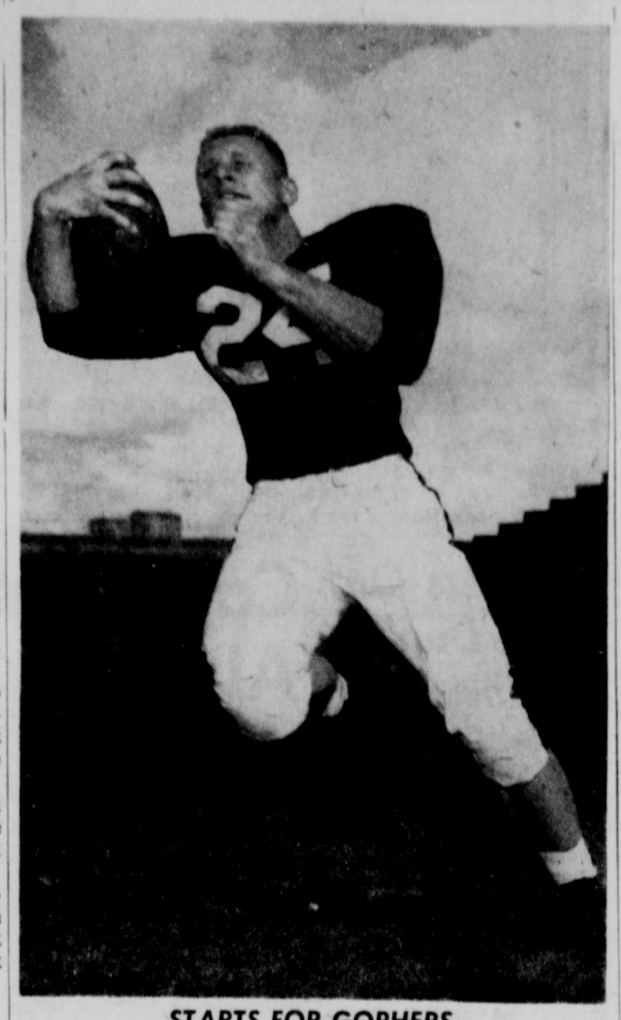
Six Cornhuskers played more than 40 minutes against Texas last Saturday night as they toppled the Longhorns, 14-13, in 87-degree heat.

Bill (Thnuder) Thornton really got a sophomore baptism, logging 46 minutes. Right on his heels were two other first-timers—Warren Powers and Bernie Clay—and junior Don Purcell.

Roland McDole played 44 minutes, while Pat Fischer got in 42 and Dick Kosier 41.

Yacht Damaged

Sheboygan, Wis. (AP) — The famed Lake Michigan racing yacht Sabre was damaged when it was ripped from its moorings by high winds and run aground in the Sheboygan horbor.



STARTS FOR GOPHERS

Bill Kauth, 180-pound senior halfback, will be in the starting backfield Saturday when Minnesota's Golden Gophers invade Nebraska's Memorial Stadium in the 1960 Husker football home opener.

Schmidt Slam Promotes S.F.

Chicago (AP) — Bob Schmidt's grand slam homer gave the San Francisco Giants a 4-1 victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday after the Giants had won the first game of a doubleheader, 11-4, on a pair of homers by Willie Kirkland.

The second game was called after 8 innings because of darkness.

Schmidt's homer, his 8th, was all the offense lefthander Billy O'Dell needed. He shackled the Cubs on 3 hits in scoring his 8th victory in 20 decisions.

Cub southpaw Seth Morehead retired the first 13 men he faced before Orlando Cepeda singled with one out in the 4th. Kirkland doubled and Jim Davenport was given an intentional pass. Schmidt followed with the second grand slam homer of his career.

Eddie Fisher, recently brought up from Tacoma, went all the way for his first victory of the season in the opener. Fisher collected 3 of San Francisco's 14 hits which included Kirkland's 19th and 20th homers.

George Altman and Ed Bouchee hit successive homers for Chicago in the 7th inning.

Newkirk's Return Boosts Oshkosh

. . . EAGLES LEADING CLASS C RATINGS

By Al Beebe

Mylie Newkirk is back in business at Oshkosh, and the Eagles are back in contention for the Class C football title.

Oshkosh is joined by Fremont Bergan, Dorchester and DeWitt in No. 1 positions in the lower prep ratings.

Newkirk is a big (6-0, 195) tackle and back for the Eagles who was a stalwart 2 years ago when Oshkosh finished 4th in the final ratings after leading much of the season.

Seward Concordia won that year.

A year ago, Newkirk suffered a serious neck injury in a summer swimming accident, and was out for the season.

Sugar Laddy

He's the lad whose love of football caused him to hitchhike to the Sugar Bowl game, and con his way inside as a photographers' assistant.

Oshkosh fell to a 5-4 record without Newkirk, and was not in the ratings at the end.

The Eagles rate a slight edge over defending C champion David City St. Mary's in the early list. Oshkosh opened with impressive wins over Class B schools Mitchell and Kimball.

St. Mary's has also been very impressive with smashing triumphs over Concordia and Wisner, but they are C outfits.

Tough Slates

Both schools traditionally play rough slates. Oshkosh has only one C school on its 9-game slate, with the rest Class B.

St. Mary's has 4 C, 4 B and a Class A, Omaha Bishop Ryan.

Ravenna, Deshler and Franklin round out the top 5 in Class C, and appear capable of putting up a strong battle for top honors.

In 8-man ball, with 2 strong classes under the new classification, the ratings will be entirely separate this year, with no overall 8-man selections.

Each class will stand on its own, thus assuring mention or more teams.

Only if the Class B leader appears to be the best in the state will an exception be made.

Dorchester Tough

This is possible. B leader Dorchester, for instance, owns a 46-0 win over Beaver Crossing, a team whipped 33-2 by Exeter, the 5th-ranking team in Class A.

The 3 lower class leaders were all in the ratings last year.

Fremont Bergan, then Fremont St. Patrick's, ranked 2nd to Lawrence in the overall 8-man list. Lawrence is Class B this year.

Dorchester was 8th in the same list, and DeWitt was runner-up in 6-man ball a year ago. All had unbeaten seasons.

But in all classes, challengers are plentiful. Friend, Spalding Avwdemy, Peru Prep, Exeter and Johnson have the best hopes of overtaking Bergan. An equal number will challenge Dorchester's top spot.

In 6-man, the list of challengers is slimmer, but strong. The field has been trimmed to such a few teams playing 6-man ball, that it is unlikely more than one or 2 will go unbeaten.

Top challenger right now is Shickley, 5th last year and slated to meet DeWitt in the season finale Nov. 4.

—MILLER HURLS SHUTOUT—

Dodgers Drop From Running

. . . CARDS TRIUMPH BY 1-0

St. Louis (AP) — Bobby Miller, making his first start since June 7th, shut out the Los Angeles Dodgers on 5 hits, giving the St. Louis Cardinals a 1-0 victory Monday.

Miller was relieved after Norm Larker singled with one down in the 9th inning and Lindy McDaniel making his 61st appearance, struck out Tom Davis and pinch-hitter Wally Moon to preserve the victory.

Joe Cunningham, who came in the 4th inning when Stan Musial retired with a pulled arm muscle, hit his 6th home run in the 6th inning for the only run.

Defeat mathematically eliminated the Dodgers, world champions of baseball last season, from the 1960 pennant race.

Miller, a sensation in spring training, developed a calcium deposit on a rib, and was out most of the season.

This victory gave him a 4-1 record.

He was in trouble only twice, in the second inning when Davis and Johnny Roseboro had singles, and in the 5th, when Charley Smith led off with a double.

After Smith's hit, Miller struck out the side.

Stan Williams, who went out for a pinch hitter in the Dodgers' 8th, was charged with the loss. He has a 14-9 mark.

Don Landrum, obtained by the Cards from Buffalo of the International League, replaced Curt Flood in center field. He had an infield hit, a line single and bunted safely in 4 trips.

GOPHERS SEEK LAND OFFENSE

Minneapolis (AP) — Minnesota bore down on its ground game Monday in search of offensive power to shoot at Texas-conquering Nebraska.

But the Gophers' No. 1 backfield ran without one of its hardest sockers, fullback Roger Hagberg. An ear infection held Hagberg out of the workout but is expected to clear up in time for the invasion of Nebraska. Hagberg was replaced by Tom Robbins.

Also ailing was the team's strongest end, junior Bob Deegan.

TWO RIVERS TO REOPEN

Trout fishing reopens at Two Rivers early Wednesday morning, according to latest word from the Nebraska Game Commission.

Prior to the 4:30 a.m. opening, 2 truck loads of rainbows will be released in the trout lake. The 1½-year-olds are expected to provide lots of action, due to the cooler weather and stabilized lake conditions. As the trout are fished out, rainbows will be added.

Minor repair will continue at the outlet of the lake, but will in no way hinder Two Rivers anglers,

—IRS CRACKS DOWN—

Payoffs Over $600 Must Be Reported

Washington (AP)— Uncle Sam is instructing the nation's race tracks to report the names of all big money winners in daily double and other pool betting.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) said Monday tracks are being notified that they must file special reports listing the names and addresses of all who win $600 or more in a pool wager. Amount of the winnings must also be reported.

The government's interest was intensified by an inovation which has been adopted by a number of tracks—pools in which the bettor tries to pick the winners of 4, 5 or 6 races.

Payoffs in such events frequently run into thousands of dollars.

In demanding periodic reports from the track, IRS cited a 1954 law requiring reports of payments of $600 or more in "rent, Salaries, wages, premiums, annuities, compensations, remunerations, emoluments or other fixed or determinable gains."

IRS chief counsel Hart H. Speigel gave an opinion that this statute is broad enough to cover payments by race tracks.

However, because of the administrative problems involved, IRS is not at this time demanding reports on big winners in individual races.

The new order covers only pool betting were payoffs normally are larger.

IRS also is citing laws and regulations to back up its contention that the tracks have a right to demand proper identification from big winners so their names can be reported.

Presumably the law also could be used to require similar reports from gambling establishments which operate poker, roulette, and dice games.

Revenue laws treat gambling winnings as ordinary income for tax purposes.

Gambling losses may be deducted against winnings, but the loss deductions may not exceed the gains.

Kansas State Fullback Lost

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — A report that fullback Bill Gallagher was sidelined by a shoulder separation dropped a cloud of gloom over the Kansas State campus Monday.

Gallagher, a workhorse in the 20-6 victory over South Dakota State last Saturday, was injured with about 5 seconds left. He was knocked out of bounds after intercepting a pass.

2 Jars Doubtful

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Two Kansas football players may not be able to face Kansas State this week because of injuries.

Sam Simpson, No. 1 end, received a thigh injury in the Texas Christian game and Kent Staab, No. 2 center, an ankle injury.

Mike Deer probably will replace Simpson and Bill Burnison will replace Staab.

IS Tackle Hurt

Ames, Ia. (AP) — Iowa State's football team went through a heavy-contact workout Monday and first-team left tackle Ron Walter suffered an injured knee.

Coach Clay Stapleton said Walter may miss Friday night's game at Detroit. Gary Astleford, letterman junior, replaced Walter in the line-up.

The varsity scrimmaged the freshmen for more than an hour despite Iowa State's 46-0 victory over Drake last Saturday.

Sooners Green

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma worked out for two hours Monday, polishing plays as they started the final week of drills before the opener here Saturday with Northwestern.

Coach Bud Wilkinson said there would be no more heavy contact work for the Sooners this week. He said the 1960 edition is "the greenest ball club I've had in quite a while," but also said it has shown some of the best spirit he had ever seen.

Tough Inaugural

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — The Oklahoma State Cowboys were warned by assistant coach Toby Greene Monday that Missouri may be better than Arkansas.

Oklahoma State goes to Columbia for its Big 8 inaugural after losing 9-0 to Arkansas last weekend. Missouri blanked Southern Methodist 20-0.

"Missouri has two good lines," said Greene, who scouted the game. "They also have strong defensive ends and excellent running halfbacks. This will be a tougher game than the one in Arkansas."

CU Lineup Set

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Colorado's football team skipped through a two-hour defensive drill against Baylor plays Monday. The Buffs open their season against Baylor at Waco, Tex., Saturday.

Coach Sonny Grandelius said he had decided on his starting lineup. In the backfield will be quarterback Gale Weidner, left halfback Jerry Steffen, right halfback Dave Rife and fullback Chuck Weiss.

2nd Underwater Swim Try Fails

Dover, England, (AP) — Jane Baldasare, blonde housewife from New York, gave up her second attempt to swim the English Channel underwater Monday after battling heavy tides to within 7 miles of the English shore.

The tides caught the 24-year old swimmer shortly after she set off from the French coast and she was swept off course for some 15 miles.

After 12 hours in the water Jane was still 13 miles out from Dover. She managed to make another 6 miles and then bobbed up to the surface and surrendered.

Dick Groat May Return Within Week

Pittsburgh (AP) — Dr. Joseph Finegold, the Pittsburgh Pirates' team physician, said Monday injured shortstop Dick Groat "will be playing within the next week to 10 days."

Dr. Finegold removed the cast from Groat's broken wrist at Presbyterian Hospital and the wrist was X-rayed. Dr. Finegold reported:

"The wrist is beginning to show signs of healing. New bone is forming. The fusion is not yet complete but enough to hold the fragments in position. We will institute whirlpool treatment and exercise immediately.

"Groat's cast is removed and will stay off. He will begin running and throwing right away and will be able to catch with his injured wrist and lightly swing a bat within the next 48 hours."

G. W. Martin's field goal try which missed in Saturday night's Texas-Nebraska game saved the Cornhuskers' 14-13 upset victory. Putting the rush on for NU are guard Gary Toogood (67) and end Bill Comstock (80). Martin's kick, placed down at the Nebraska 23, was short.

Huskers On 19th Dunkel Rating Peg

As expected, college football's first big weekend found Mississippi and Washington taking over top national ranking, according to the Dunkel Ratings.

But Alabama in 3rd place, Missouri in 6th, Georgia Tech in seventh, and Kansas in 8th were distinct surprises.

Mississippi now has the top rating of 117.8, virtually the same as last year's final, after defeating Houston U., 42-0. Washington is next, with 110.2.

Nebraska, following its 14-13 upset of Texas, made one of the most surprising advances and is ranked 19th with a 90.7 index rating.

Can Runnels Hold AL Batting Lead?

New York (AP)—The question confronting Pete Runnels of Boston today, as it did two years ago, is: can he hold the American League batting lead for the final two weeks of the season?

Runnels didn't hold it in 1958. After leading Ted Williams by 3 points with two weeks to play, Pete lost the championship to his slugging teammate on the last weekend of the campaign.

Williams rallied to wind up with a .328 average while Runnels was second at .322.

Runnels today holds a 6-point lead over runner-up Al Smith of the Chicago White Sox. Pete dropped one point to .321 as a result of last week's action, collecting 4 hits in 14 tries. Smith gained one point to .315 with 5 hits in 14 at bats.

Harvey Kuenn of Cleveland, out for the season with a leg fracture, is 3rd at .308. He's followed by Roy Sievers of Chicago, .306.

Sievers, in the No. 3 spot a week ago, slumped 4 points with a 4-for-18 performance.

The National League competition tightened considerably as Norm Larker of Los Angeles, the front-runner, fell 6 points to .326.

Willie Mays of San Francisco rushed up to grab 3rd position at .321. Mays gained 3 points with 12 safeties in 31 trips. Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh dropped one notch to 4th at .317.

Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs hit two homers to lift his leading total to 41.

However, the hard-hitting shortstop relinquished his runs batted in lead to Milwaukee's Hank Aaron, who drove in 6 runs for a season's total of 114. Eddie Mathews of the Braves is second with 113 followed by Banks, 112.

Roger Maris of the New York Yankees held the top spot in the American League with 39 homers and 104 runs batted in.

U.S. Wheelchair Cage Team In Opening Win

Rome (AP)—Even in wheelchairs, the United States appeared Monday to lead the world in basketball.

A fast-wheeling team of semi-paralyzed American athletes started off the 1960 world "Paralympics" with a 37-6 basketbal victory over Belgium.

The American outfit blanked the Belgians in the first half 20-0.

The game was one of the curtain openers of the week-long wheelchair Olympics held in Rome this year less than a month after the non-handicapped athletes of the world competed in the regular Olympic games.

Three hundred and 50 competitors from 22 countries are here for the Paralympics, organized at England's Stoke Mandeville Hospital 12 years ago for partly paralyzed men and women.

The crippled athletes come from Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Finland, France, Germany, Britain, Greece, Ireland, Israel, Yugoslavia. Lebanon, Malta, Norway, Holland, Rhodesia, the United States, Sweden, Switzerland and Italy.

The U.S. basketball team played Belgium in the first game of the Class B tournament. Class B is reserved for athletes whose legs are paralyzed. There is a Class A—not including basketball — for those paralyzed from the chest down.

Corrections Slated For Texas Squad

Austin, Tex. (AP) — Texas football coach Darrell Royal, admitting that "some corrections have to be made," said Monday he is "disappointed but not discouraged" about the Longhorns showing last Saturday.

Texas took a 14-13 defeat from unranked Nebraska.

"We are pretty good but are far from being an outstanding or one of the great teams," Royal said.

'Nebraska was a whole lot better than everyone thought they were. And we're not as good as everybody says we are."

U.S. Netters Sweep Zone Finals, 5-0

Cleveland (AP) — Barry MacKay of Dayton and Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of Dallas won singles matches over Venezulean netters Monday as the U.S. team completed a sweep of the American Zone Davis Cup tennis finals.

MacKay held his powerful service throughout in defeating Iyo Pimentel 6-3, 6-3, 6-3. Bartzen overwhelmed Marcos Gambus, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0 in Monday's first match, allowing the Venezulean No. 2 netter only the second game Gambus served.

Last Friday MacKay beat Gambus 6-1, 6-1, 6-1, and Bartzen smothered Pimentel 6-0, 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles saw Earl Buchholz and Chuck McKinley, both of St. Louis, assure this country a victory by defeating the Pimentel-Gambus team, 6-4, 6-1, 7-5.

The United States team now goes into the Davis Cup semi-finals against the Philippines, and if it wins that one goes on to play Italy for the right to challenge the champion, Australia.

Orioles Were Eager--Casey

. . . 'SHOULD BE LIKE WILLIAMS'

New York (AP) — Casey Stengel says it was Baltimore's over-eagerness at bat that brought the fledgling Orioles 4 straight defeats in the torrid weekend series with the New York Yankees.

"The trouble with them kids," the New York Yankee manager observed, "is that they're in a slump and they don't figure to snap out of it because they're over-eager. They won't wait for a walk. They swing at bad pitches. They just can't contain their eagerness.

"Now take Ted Williams. He's got tremendous control over himself. He can start his swing, like this, (and Casey stood up to demonstrate) and then suddenly check himself right in the middle of it. But these kids, they can't stop the bat and let it go right through."

The name of Williams brought a gleam to Casey's eye. It brought back memories to the old man.

"Here's something I've never mentioned before," he said. "But did you know that way back in 1937 — I believe it was his first year in professional baseball — I recommended Williams to the Boston Braves. Ted was with the San Diego team in the Pacific Coast League.

"He was a tall, gangly kid and I believe he hit only about .280 but you had to be blind not to see that this kid had it. He had the most beautiful swing, even then.

"That was the year when Brooklyn was paying me for not managing. They had let me go the winter before but my contract had another year to run. I had already agreed to manage the Braves the next year.

"On my recommendation, the Braves offered 5 players for Williams. The San Diego club was receptive but they told us they were obligated to Eddie Collins, then general manager of the Red Sox. If the Sox didn't take him, we could have him."

Stengel recalled he finally got a chance to manage Williams in the 1950 All-Star Game. "That's when he broke his left elbow crashing into the wall while making a catch," the Yankee manager said.

"I knew he was hurt seriously the minute he came in and I told him he had enough and for him to get that arm doctored up.

He took a couple of practice swings and he winced every time he moved that arm, but he asked to be allowed to hit once more.

"Well, all Mr. Williams did for me was to hit a line single — with a broken arm. That's the kind of guy Ted Williams is."

Beatrice PD Aids Husker Film TV Fans

Beatrice (AP) — Cooperation here early Sunday by the Beatrice Police Department helped make it possible for Nebraska fans to view film of the Nebraska-Texas football game.

John Bentley, Nebraska sports publicity director, his chief photographer, Kazta Tada, another photographer and the pilot were forced to land here at 4 a.m. due to fog.

Film of the 14-13 Nebraska victory had to be developed by 10 a.m.

After placing numerous calls without results, Bentley contacted the police department and an officer drove the group to Lincoln.

Season Lifted On Football, But Cliches Still The Same

By Steve Snider

New York (UPI) — Well, we pried the old lid off the brand new pigskin campaign and the air will be filled with footballs until the last autumnal classic is in the record books and the last bruised gridder packs away his moleskins.

Yep, we've lifted the curtain on the season for cliches.

You'll be seeing them and hearing them as long as cleated toes keep thudding on a water-logged ball — which roughly is in mid-January as the pros fly.

What there is about football that brings out the worst in writers, commentators or anyone with the price of admission is impossible to determine. And armchair quarterbacks who take their football on television often are just as guilty.

Could be we're trying to re-live the ancient glory days of youth when life and death struggles on the greensward put your heart in your mouth and, depending on the score, had you deliriously happy or in the depths of despair until the following Saturday.

But from now on these are bound to be heard:

Shirt-sleeved fans were so silent you could hear a pin drop until the towering end split the uprights with his conversion kick. Only a moment before he'd hit pay dirt by hauling in a pass from his rifle-armed quarterback.

Vaunted offenses will batter vaunted defenses until one highly touted forward wall is ripped to shreds by the trip-hammer blows of the battering fullback and piston-legged halfbacks.

A guy who runs back the opening kickoff for a touchdown probably will do it before the spectators had settled into the seats, toe-dance down the sidelines, elude a swarm of would-be tacklers at the 30 yard line, reverse his field and break into the clear without a hand being laid on him. If he's a new man he'll be a poised sophomore running like a veteran and in any case he'll be either snake-hipped or eel-hipped.

The 3rd-string halfback who was on the "B" only last Saturday is bound to come through in the clutch, running like a scared jackrabbit when the blue chips were down. When he's pinned to earth by 9 opposing behemoths, the gutty little man who weighs only 150 pounds soaking wet will scramble to his feet instantly and race back to the huddle.

Most any deadeye quarterback will pass with precision and guide his team on land and through the air by cleverly mixing his plays until an alert defender plucks an interception out of the air and dashes clear back to the 2 yard line where the deadeye quarterback then will exhort his mates to set up their rock-ribbed defense in the shadow of their own goal.

After hurling their foe back to the 10 with a gallant goal line stand, they'll rip up the field in a 90-yard sustained march, grinding out huge chunks of yardage over a succession of watch-charm guards hurled desperately into the breach to stem the tide. At long last, the ailing captain who had missed the last 9 games, hobbles off the bench with both arms and both legs swathed in bandages — one of the walking wounded — and ploughs over for the payoff tally.

After all, in this final contest of the campaign, the captain was one of 12 seniors in their swan-song before the home fans against their arch-rival. Thus was clinched a bid to the Cliche Bowl, the granddaddy of them all.

AUBURN REUNION AT MIDLAND

Rochester Grid Coach To Resign

Rochester, N.Y. (AP) — University of Rochester football coach Elmer Burnham will retire after this season.

Burnham, 66, begins his 17th season with the Rivermen, with 2 unbeaten years.

Burnham came to Rochester in 1944 from Purdue, after coaching the Boilermakers to an undefeated season and a Big Ten championship in 1943.

His Rochester teams have won 76 games, lost 46, and tied 6.

Vanderbilt Coed Named Grid Queen

Berkeley, Calif. (AP)—Brown-eyed, brown-haired Trish Champion, 20-year-old senior from Vanderbilt University, was crowned Miss National Football.

Miss Champion, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland R. Champion of 3614 Hampton Ave., Nashville, Tenn., is an English and History major, a Vanderbilt cheerleader and president of her sorority. The 5 foot 3 coed was elected Miss Vanderbilt for the current school year.

Her hobbies are water skiing, knitting and collecting unusual pieces of silver—the latest addition to her collection was a diamond bracelet presented her by the Berkeley Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the annual event, now in its 15th year.

Thirteen contestants were brought here from 5 sections of the United States for the judging.

Ruth Anne Hatfield, 19, a sophomore from the University of Maryland, was chosen Miss Congeniality by the other girls.

Giants Peddle Florida Property

New York (AP)—The San Francisco Giants announced the sale of the Mayfair Inn and other properties in Sanford, Fla., to Ben Ball of Miami Beach.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, said the purchaser preferred to have the price held in confidence. A recent appraisal of the properties indicated value in excess of $1,000,000.

Included in the sale were the hotel and motel properties, the Sanford Golf Course and the land where the Giants' farm clubs held spring training from 1946 until this year.

Stoneham said the farm clubs will train futurely at Casa Grande, Ariz. The parent club trains at Phoenix.

Mixed Foursome Set

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—The 1961 National amateur mixed foursome will be held at the La Gorce Golf Club here Jan. 31-Feb. 4, tournament chairman John E. McAuliffe has announced. Bill Hyndman and Anne Quast won the title last winter and plan to defend it.

Canadian Fowl Picture Better

Winnipeg (AP)— The waterfowl picture in the prairie provinces is "definitely improved" after a late hatch that has been generally successful, Ducks Unlimited reported.

Manitoba production is improved over 1959, production in the eastern half of Saskatchewan has been good and production has been particularly heavy in the northern parklands of Alberta, the conservation organization said.

In a report on wild duck and goose production, the organization said aerial surveys started simultaneously in the northern parts of the 3 provinces Aug. 31 and were completed Sept. 8.

134 Pro Grid Games

New York (AP)—The National Football League will play 78 league games this season. The new American Football League will play 56 league games.

Kramer Hasn't Asked Fraser

Forest Hills, N.Y. (AP)— Will Neale Fraser join Jack Kramer's pro tennis circus?

"I haven't even been asked," grinned the 2-time United States singles champion. "So I can't answer the question."

Fraser, who beat his Australian Davis Cup teammate, Rod Laver, in the final, now has won the 2 big ones this year — Wimbledon and the U.S. titles.

He should be prime bait for Kramer. Yet the money man of the pros never has appeared interested enough in the happy-go-lucky Fraser to wave a fistful of greenbacks his way.

Fraser has no particular reason to stay amateur if Kramer wanted him in his troupe. A half-dozen other Aussies already are playing for Kramer.

Matter of fact, Laver is more likely to join the Kramer family, probably after the Davis Cup Challenge Round in December.

Courthouse Changes Will Provide More Space For Juvenile Office

By Del Harding

The County Board will go ahead with plans to move the county law library from the second to the third floor of the Courthouse to make more space available for the Juvenile Probation Office.

This decision was announced Monday by Commissioner Kenneth Bourne after a meeting between the 4 district judges, the county judge and county attorney. Bourne said the meeting resulted in the recommendation to the board that the law library he moved.

Delay Suggested

Last week there had been some sentiment for delaying the move to the third floor to await the outcome of the proposal to establish a separate juvenile court at the Nov. 8 election.

If the proposal passes, the county will have to provide space for the new judge and his staff and this might result in having to twice remodel the space now used by the law library.

Bourne said the remodeling of the second floor space will begin next week after the law books are moved into the Civil Defense office on the third floor. The library will share space with the CD office and future CD staff meetings will take place in the commissioners' office on the first floor.

Interviewing Rooms

The vacated second floor space will be partitioned into interviewing rooms and desk space for the juvenile office which is located next to the library room.

The juvenile office recently hired another probation officer and will hire another Oct. 1, complicating its already crowded situation.

The board has discussed the possibility of moving all third floor offices from the Courthouse and using this space for the new judge and his staff, if the juvenile court proposal passes.

Citizens Committee Favors New Juvenile Court Plan

The Citizens Committee for Children has endorsed the proposed separate juvenile court for Lincoln.

Bryan Littrell, chairman of the Lincoln Community Council's study committee for the juvenile court, addressed the group which was organized in behalf of child welfare.

Mrs. Easley

Litrell pointed out that the present probation office staff, appointed by the 4 district judges, is overloaded with work and receives inadequate salaries. Littrell cited one worker who had 120 youths on probation and received a salary of $235 a month.

Each of the 4 district judges now rotating the juvenile court session duties "washes his hands of all cases each Dec. 31 as his term is over," he said.

Littrell and other supporters of the proposal emphasized that neglected children and others needing preventive help are a part of the juvenile court case load as well as those brought before the court.

Newly-elected officers of the Committee are Mrs. Robert Easley, chairman; Mrs. L. M. Kalin, vice chairman; the Rev. Carroll Lemon, secretary; and Dr. Leroy Laase, treasurer.

North Loup River Used In A-Test

State sanitation engineer T. A. Filipi said a portion of the North Loup River in Blaine County has been treated with radioactive material to study movement of radioactive particles in streams.

Filipi said the information obtained can be applied to other streams where radioactive materials might be found as near mining areas or nuclear reactor locations.

Filipi said no humans live within a half a mile of the portion of the stream with radioactive material in it.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, head of the State Health Department, said there would be no danger from the radioactive material put into the stream.

Hill-Burton Fund Contracts $668,680

Verne A. Pangborn, head of the state hospital division, said that $668,680 in Hill-Burton money has already been committed by contract to Bryan Memorial Hospital in Lincoln and Children's Memorial Hospital and Clarkson Memorial Hospital both in Omaha.

Pangborn made his report of the Nebraska allocation of Hill-Burton funds to the State Board of Health. Nebraska has received $1,839,642 in Hill-Burton funds which is money from the federal government to help finance hospital construction and improvement programs.

Pangborn reported that the state received $1,451,008 in funds which are used for general hospital construction. Of this, $668,680 is already under contract and $782,327 is the estimated requirement for approved projects which have not yet been let for contract.

Three persons injured in a two-car accident 7 miles north of Lincoln Sunday were reported improving at a local hospital Monday.

Don Erway, backfield coach at Wesleyan University was reported in satisfactory condition and his wife, Shari, and the driver of the second car, Jerry Minchow of Wahoo, were both listed in good condition.

Erway, his wife and Plainsman assistant coach Eugene Fleharty were returning from the Wesleyan-Midland football game at Fremont. Fleharty, who lost four front teeth in the mishap, was not hospitalized.

Mrs. Baugh Heads New Local Demo Women's Group

Temporary officers of the newly-formed Democratic Women of Lancaster County were named at the group's initial meeting Monday.

Mrs. Robert Baugh was named acting chairman, Mrs. Loren Bartzatt, acting secretary, and Mrs. Robert Conrad, acting treasurer.

Frank Golden, county Democratic party chairman, and Ralph Queen, vice chairman, reviewed plans for the Friday evening fund raising dinner for Gerald Whelan, First District congressional candidate, and for a caravan and parade for vice presidential nominee Lyndon B. Johnson on Thursday.

Robert Kennedy will speak at the Friday dinner in Hastings and buses will be chartered for Lincolnites going to the dinner.

The next meeting of the women's group will be held Sept. 26 at Democratic headquarters in the Lincoln Hotel.

Russ Farm Experts In Omaha Silent

Omaha (AP) — A group of 18 Russian farm experts arrived in Omaha Monday night but what they thought or how they felt was not learned.

Ted Rysfeld of American Express, who arranged the tour, said the Russians had no comment to make.

The group, due to State Department orders, can travel only within the city limits of Omaha and in Pottawattamie County, Iowa.

The Russians themselves appeared amicable and one of them gave a reporter a sack of apples.

Spiritualist Says 'Death A Change Of Condition'

By Jerry Farrell

"Death is not an end but a change of condition—a rebirth."

David DeMering, divine healer from Los Angeles, explained that his belief in "rebirth" is the basic belief of Spiritualism.

DeMering spoke in Lincoln Monday night at the national convention of the American Spiritualist Alliance. The 4-year-old group is composed of spiritualists who have gathered in an effort for cooperation.

"Those that pass on are aware, they are not dead," DeMering said.

"Every soul will pass through the ages, through the sublime, toward that oneness that is God."

Proof Im Bible

DeMering said proof of Spiritualism could be found in the Bible:

"Every phase of Spiritualism, from healing by prayer to seances, are documented in the Christian Bible as well as the master works of all the great world religions."

During the convention, healing services as well as seances are being conducted. In a healing service, three persons stand at the front of the room and call for those that wish to participate.

The healers stand over their subjects, chant prayers and move their hands in a quivering fashion over the heads and limbs of the person.

After a short healing period another subject comes forward. In about one-half hour Monday night's healing meeting was over. At the conclusion, one healer shouted:

"There is a man out there who needs healing and won't come up." With hands upraised the healer continued: "We pray to God to heal this man who won't come up."

Seances Conducted

Seances are conducted by mediums or psychics. During the seance Monday, the medium became trance-like, complaining of a "burning heat."

She called to a woman "in the 4th row" and stated:

"Two sweethearts, your husband and your son-in-law, (both departed) are bringing me a message for you. They say that the pain in your limbs will soon be gone."

DeMering said that every person in every type of religion is some sort of Spiritualist because they believe in life hereafter.

"The main results of every great religion are the principles of Spiritualism," he said.

The 4-day convention will wind up at the Capital Hotel on Wednesday.

Mother Charged With Using Drugs On 'Sleeping Beauty'

Cleveland (AP) — The prosecution charged that because of drugs administered by Mrs. Lillian Fratantonio her 3-year-old daughter, Bernadette, "for nearly a year lived in a state of suspended animation and came dangerously close to death."

Bernadette's case and that of her sister, Venita, 5, received wide attention earlier this year when medical men admitted they were stumped by the mysterious ailment that kept the two "sleeping beauties" in a state of coma much of the time.

Mrs. Fratantonio is on trial in Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court on a charge of ill-treating her children by administering barbiturates. A jury of 10 men and two women was selected to hear the case against the petite, dark-haired, 29-year-old woman.

Maximum penalty is a year in jail and a $500 fine if she is convicted.

In his opening statement, assistant county prosecutor Thomas L. Osborne described painful tests to which the children were subjected by medical men seeking to find the cause of their recurring comas.

Bernadette at one time had such severe convulsions she stopped breathing, and mouth-to-mouth respiration was needed to revive her, he said.

MARKET TUMBLES

New York (AP)—The stock market's famous "triple bottom" was smashed to smithereens Monday as the Dow Jones industrial average plunged to a new low for the year and took the worst beating since Sept. 26, 1955, when the market reeled on news of President Eisenhower's heart attack.

An estimated $5.7 billion was shorn from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the fall in the Associated Press average.

The so-called "triple bottom" was formed on stock charts by sharp rallies which followed declines in March, May and July to about the 600 level in the Dow industrials. Today the 600 line disintegrated.

The Dow industrials toppled 15.42 to 586.76 — their worst setback since the 311.89 loss in September '55— a landmark in market history.

The AP 60-stock average fell 4.20 to 210.40, its worst break since Nov. 24, 1958 when it lost 5.20. This average still remained above its low of 207.80 reached March 8. The industrial component fell $5.30 and the rails 2.20, both to new lows for the year while the utilities dropped 1.30.

Of 1,253 issues traded, 975 declined nd 138 advanced. New highs for the year totaled 13 and new lows 174.

All 15 of the most active stocks declined.

American Stock Exchange prices also broke sharply as volume stepped up to 1,240,000 shares from 760,000 Friday.

Corporate bonds were irregular. Volume was the highest in three months. The jump from $3.8 million on Friday to $6.03 million Monday also was ascribed to the stock market decline.

$573,465 Education Aid State's Share

Washington (AP) —Nebraska is eligible for $573,465 in education aid grants under certain programs provided by the National Defense Education Act, the Office of Education said.

The funds, available on a state-local matching basis are designed to strengthen science, mathematics and foreign language instruction and to set up guidance, testing and counseling systems for able students.

These amounts were listed for Nebraska: $28,670 for supervisory and related services; $426,590 for acquisition of equipment and minor remodeling and $118,205 for the guidance and counseling program.

The $426,590 is short of last year's allocation of $479,000 for acquisition of equipment and minor remodeling, according to Floyd K. Alexander, state administrator.

"Two more states this year account for this since the funds are determined on a population count," he said.

One Nebraska college also has an application pending before the Housing and Home Finance Agency for a federal loan to expand student facilities.

Nebraska Wesleyan University, Lincoln, is seeking a $369,750 loan to build a dormitory for 125 men.

This year's program in the Lincoln Public Schools mounted to $62,778, half of which was paid by the Lincoln School District. Lincoln has not yet made application for the 1961-62 National Defense Educational Act funds, officials reported.

The application is included among a total of nearly $341 million which has piled up in the HHFA office since last November when funds for the program began to dwindle.

However, President Eisenhower recently signed a bill passed by the recent Congress authorizing $500 million additional for the program.

An agency spokesman explained that each of the applications will be reviewed. The amounts could be granted either in whole or in part.

The loans are for a 40-year period and at the present time carry a 3½% interest rate.

Red China Keeping Close Eye On Nikita

London (UPI)—Communist China maintained an icy silence but watchful eye on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's arrival at the United Nations in New York Monday, according to experts here.

They noted that Peiping has ignored the Soviet leader's campaign to rally around him members of the Communist block when he personally heads the Soviet delegation to the U.N. General Assembly meeting.

Terse Announcement

The silence, maintained by the Communist Chinese radio and press except for the terse announcement of Khrushchev's arrival was interpreted by these experts as indicating Peiping's disapproval of the Soviet premier's initiative.

They said that there were signs that Communist Chinese Premier Chou En-lai and Chinese Communist party leader Mao Tse-tung would strike back at Khrushchev's policy of co-existence if it fails in his U.N. mission.

Peiping has been highly critical of Khrushchev's ventures into summitry in the past and is understood to be even more apprehensive of his latest venture.

Space Doubleheader Sent Into Skies By U.S.

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (UPI)—America sent an Atlas missile 9,000 miles over the Atlantic and an exploring rocket 1,200 miles above the Pacific Monday in a space age doubleheader within hours after Soviet Premier Khrushchev's arrival in New York.

The Air Force Atlas, this nation's mightiest war rocket, hurled a dummy warhead into an Indian Ocean target. It tied a military missile distance record set by another Atlas and still unmatched by Russia.

The 62-foot "sounding" rocket, a federal space agency project, was launched by the Navy from Point Arguello, Calif. It carried instruments to help map man's path into space through deadly bands of radiation surrounding earth.

An 83-pound capsule carried by the NERV —nuclear emulsion recovery vehicle—was picked up in the Pacific about 3 hours after the shot.

The launchings were the first two of a series of space and semi-space shots by the United States, which may coincide with Khrushchev's appearances before the United Nations in New York.

The schedule includes at least one more space probe, an attempt to send a 400-pound space station into orbit around the moon, two more launchings of the Navy's Polaris missile from a submerged nuclear submarine and a distance record try by another U.S. ICBM, the Titan.

Tourists Stranded

LANDSLIDES AND FLOODS HIT ITALY

Rome (AP)—Floods and landslides cut almost every major north-south line of travel in the Italian peninsula Monday, leaving thousands of late summer tourists stranded.

All 3 main rail lines north from Rome were cut. So were coastal highways up both sides of the peninsula. The main highway through the Brenner Pass was under water.

The known toll in the stricken valleys on the south slopes of the Alps was 25 dead, 200 injured and at least 3,000 temporarily homeless.

Losses High In Millions

Rain poured down for the fourth day without letup.

More than 50 square miles of valley farmland were under water up to 10 feet deep. Damage was estimated in tens of millions of dollars.

The rising waters of the Po, the Arno, the Tiber and a score of lesser rivers gave warning that the next few days may bring Italy one of her most tragic floods since World War II.

By dawn Monday the rains had spread as far south as Rome. Tourists waded to safety through flood waters which washed across one of the city's big auto-park camping grounds.

Truman Claims 'GOP Ruining' Midwest Farmer

Chicago (AP)—Harry S. Truman says the Republicans are ruining the farmers and the farmers know it.

Truman and his wife changed trains in Chicago, en route to Independence, Mo., after a visit in New York. Truman told reporters:

"The corn belt—Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska—is in bad shape. If Democrats lose those states, they're crazy. The Republicans are ruining the farmers and the farmers know it."

On whistle-stopping for Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, the former president said;

"There's no need for me to go whistle-stopping this time. Kennedy's doing that, and he's doing a good job of it. He's a good campaigner. And of course I think he'll be a good president."

Dale Electronics Purchases Radio Products Firm

Columbus (AP) — Dale Electronics, Inc., of Columbus has acquired Sioux Radio Products, Inc., of Yankton, S.D., it was announced Monday.

Dale recently was merged with Hathaway Instruments, Inc., of Denver.

The announcement was made jointly by George Risk of Columbus, president of Hathaway, and the co-owners of Sioux Radio, Richard C. Harm and Mark Bulluyt.

The deal involved the exchange of an undisclosed amount of Hathaway stock for Sioux Radio stock, they said. The Yankton firm will be a division of Dale Electronics. Both Harm and Bulluyt will remain as operating vice presidents of the Yankton operation, the announcement said.

Risk said there will be no change in personnel.

Sioux Radio manufactures coils and Ferrite antennas for radio and television equipment. Dale Electronics manufactures precision resistors and other electronic components for space vehicles, computers and automatic instruments.

Omaha (AP)—Sessions of the 7-state region 5 meeting of the National Concrete Masonry Assn. got under way Monday.

Finalists named for the title as block layer of the year were Warren C. Larson of Omaha, regional director; Max H. Miller of Wichita, president of the National Concrete Masonry Assn., and Carl R. Engstrom of Lincoln, Nebraska CMA president.

Russell E. Eichelberger of Lincoln, regional vice president, was chairman of the opening session.

CAPABLE PRIVATE SECRETARIES, please note. Somewhere there is someone who wants and can qualify for my job. For five years I have been the private secretary to the president of a progressive, aggressive, fast growing firm in Lincoln. I love my job because it is so intensely interesting and the people with whom I work are so congenial and cooperative. Mine is a responsible position where trustworthiness is paramount, accuracy with dispatch is essential, and intelligence is a prerequisite. Now, for purely personal reasons and natural causes, I am compelled to resign this choice position. I enthusiastically agreed to help my employer find a qualified replacement. Therefore, if this opportunity interests you and you believe your experience and ability can qualify, won't you please write to me, knowing that your inquiry will be held in strict confidence. Please accompany your letter with a complete description of your background, education and experience. State salary requirement, marital status and such other personal data as may be pertinent. Please act promptly because this position must be filled before mid-October—sooner if possible. Address: Mrs. Secretary, Journal-Star Box 46. 26

Belmont Bus Damage Brings Prompt Action

Bedlam on the school bus which takes Belmont area youngsters to Whittier Junior High School brought quick action from city juvenile authorities and the bus line officials.

City Bus Lines Manager Leo Whitson said that about $40 damage was done to the bus Monday morning including the ripping off of decorative chrome strips and the enlarging of a hole in the fabric of the bus side.

Lunches Left

The ruckus also left a smattering of peanut butter and jam sandwiches and debris in its wake.

Whitson and Lt. Gail Gade, police juvenile officer, confronted the youngsters when they were finished with their school day.

Whitson told the teenagers that a repeat of the vandalism or any other serious incident would mean the end of the City Bus Lines service from the area to Whittier.

Lt. Gade said that several of the 60 to 70 youngsters using the bus were questioned about the incident, and that further questioning and investigation would take place.

Repeat Affair

A similar incident last fall involving the Whittier bus serving the Belmont area resulted in the revocation of bus-riding privileges of a dozen youngsters and a "hands-off" policy statement from the Lincoln School Board.

The board voted at that time to adopt a definite policy of staying free of incidents on city buses used to transport youngsters to secondary schools in the city, stating that the behavior of the children were the province of the parents. The bus company has the right to discnotinue its service if such incidents occur.

Conrad OKs Proposal For Debate Series

A Lincoln radio station originating a current series of debates between rival candidates for governor proposed Monday that senatorial candidates join in a similar debate or series.

Invitations to participate in one or two one-hour debates were wired to Republican Sen. Carl T. Curtis and his Democratic opponent, Robert B. Conrad, by Herbert Burton, general manager of station KFMQ.

Conrad Tuesday night wired acceptance of the proposal saying he was "willing and anxious to meet my Republican opponent to debate the issues." He said the suggested dates "or any other date, place and hour" would be acceptable, and added, "I am confident that my Republican opponent will have no difficulty in making a similar arrangement."

As in the case of the gubernatorial debates, the programs would be unsponsored and tape recordings of them would be made available to other broadcasting stations desiring to air them in the public service, Burton said.

The second in the series of three joint appearances by governor candidates John Cooper, Republican, and Frank Morrison, Democrat, is scheduled Tuesday night. The subject under discussion will be "Highways, Labor and Urban Problems."

NU ROTC Units To Continue Use Of Elgin Grounds

University of Nebraska ROTC units will continue to use the surfaced area south of Nebraska Hall, the former Elgin building, as drill grounds during the fall and spring months, James Pittenger, administrative assistant to the chancellor, announced Monday.

The program was initiated last spring to permit the units to transfer their drill grounds from the Vine Street Mall. This was done, Pittenger said, to preserve the grass and allow continued beautification of the campus.

From Dec. 1 to spring vacation, the ROTC drill units will move indoors, using the west two-thirds of hte second floor of Nebraska Hall, which is now unoccupied, for drill purposes, he said.

During these winter months, the Nebraska Hall parking area will be opened to student parking, he added. This will add approximately 230 parking spaces. An area of about 100 spaces will be blocked off the entire year for parking by employes and construction workers of Nebraska Hall, he said.

Norris Files New Charter Change Bid

Norris Rural Public Power District of Beatrice has filed a new application to broaden its charter, State Water Resources Director Dan Jones Jr. reported Monday.

The application carries out one of the steps suggested by a recent truce reached by Norris and Consumers Public Power District in a long dispute over which should furnish electricity to the City of Beatrice.

Under the new application, Norris asks that the word "rural" be dropped from its name and that it not be restricted to rural operations.

A hearing was set for Oct. 13.

Avoids Conflict

The proposed charter amendment also prescribes that Norris facilities and operations "shall not nullify or conflict with or materially affect those of, or on the part of, any other district."

Norris first applied Feb. 7, 1958, for charter changes permitting it to operate as a full fledged power district. Jones approved the application in January of 1959 but Lancaster District Judge Paul White recently reversed the decision.

The case was appealed to the supreme court but CPPD and Norris later settled their differences, with Consumers becoming the power supplier to Beatrice.

Under the agreement, CPPD agreed not to oppose a charter broadening by Norris, provided the Norris operations did not conflict with CPPD operations. The new application contains this proviso.

Ask Early Action

Norris asked Jones for early action on the new application, reporting that CPPD and ing of any briefs in the supreme court appeal will be postponed until Jones rules on the application.

Norris sought the charter changes originally to clear the way for furnishing power to Beatrice.

Quiz Lincoln Man On Baby Abandonment

A 27-year-old Lincoln man was being questioned Monday by Omaha authorities in connection with a Jan. 20, 1959, baby abandonment case.

Omaha detectives said the man, who was arrested by Lincoln police early Saturday morning, said he was the father of a baby girl found abandoned on the doorstep of the John T. McConathy residence at 6901 West Dodge in Omaha. The child is now a ward of the Juvenile Court.

Lincoln police answering a disturbance call found the man drunk in his car near 20th and K. He was sounding the horn of his car in the early morning hours.

He was searched and a newspaper clipping telling of the baby being abandoned was found on him along with a photo of the baby being held by a nurse. Someone had penciled "Theresa Ann" along with the man's own last name on the photo.

Eclipse Of Sun Tuesday, 5 p.m.

The light in the sky is expected to dim across Nebraska Tuesday when the second solar eclipse of the year appears late in the afternoon.

According to Carroll Moore, Wesleyan University professor, the solar phenomenon will begin a little after 5 p.m. Tuesday.

About 60% of the sun will be covered as Nebraskans view the climax of the eclipse on the horizon just as the sun sets, Moore reported.

He cautioned observers to protect their eyes with colored glasses and not to look directly at the eclipse with a telescope or field glasses.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge.

Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new Colonaid gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) Colonaid moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) Colonaid's unequalled rebulking action helps retone flabby colon muscles. (3) And Colonaid acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon.

Colonaid relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And Colonaid won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get Colonaid today! Introductory size 43¢.
